Tories Feel Macmillan To Resign Post

British Premier To Face Surgery; Party Is Shocked

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—Impressions hardened among Conservative party leaders today that Harold Macmillan, stricken by illness, soon will have to step down as prime minister of Great Britain.

The annual conference of the ruling Tories opened formally in an atmosphere of shock and confusion at the development. There was a sense of unreality about the party's debates on national educational and health because the issue of leadership was the only one preoccupying the 4,000 assembled delegates.

Elder statesmen, managers and Cabinet ministers who form the party hierarchy faced a stark choice between soldiering on leaderless for the next two or three months in the expectation that Macmillan will recover, or agreeing by Saturday on an heir-apparent who would be ready to take over the minute Macmillan signals he has had enough.

Even though the leaders themselves still were deeply engaged in secret discussion over the claims of rival contenders, it became increasingly evident that the consensus among them was that the present situation could not be allowed to continue. The word in private was that a big effort is under way right now to agree on the man to be designated heir-apparent.

With no warning, the 69-year-old prime minister was taken to a London hospital Tuesday night for removal of a prostate obstruction to his bladder. His doctor said he probably would be operated on Thursday and he would not be fully active "for at least two or three months."

The immediate reaction in political circles was that Macmillan, after fending off demands for his resignation produced by the Profumo scandal, must at last surrender the party's reins.

But some observers thought he might recover and still lead the Conservatives in the crucial election battle with the opposition Labor party.

Even before the announcement of Macmillan's illness, there was an atmosphere of crisis as the 4,000 Conservative delegates assembled in Blackpool for the party conference. The Profumo scandal, poor Conservative showings in public opinion polls favoring the Laborites have resulted in rising demands that Macmillan step aside for a younger man less identified with government reverses.

Meredith Eyes Return

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negro James H. Meredith is trying to re-enter the University of Mississippi, where his enrollment last year touched off riots, death and a major federal-state showdown in that bastion of diehard segregation.

Meredith, who last August received a bachelor of arts degree in political science to become the first Negro graduate in the university's 115-year history, said Tuesday night he has applied to return there to law school.

At Oxford, the university declined to confirm it had received his application.

Asked why he wants to return to the hostile atmosphere where federal marshals and troops had to guard his safety night and day for almost a year, Meredith said:

"Because I'm a citizen."

Firemen Taking Precaution During Serious Dry Spell

The Circleville Fire Department, well aware of the serious drought conditions that exist here, is taking added precautions to cope with the unwelcome situation.

A special training session was conducted yesterday at Hargus Lake. The main purpose was to bring heretofore little used equipment up to par, insuring that such gear will be available and ready in case of an emergency.

Tested was the pumping equipment on the city's old 1929 model fire truck. Following considerable adjustments and necessary maintenance, the unit was put in full operation. Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe placed his stamp of approval on the vehicle's firefighting accessories and rated it "ready to go" in case of need.

Hargus Lake served as the source of water in the test drill. All members of the fire department participated, as the instruction was divided into shifts. One unit remained at the station while the other took part in the training.

CHIEF WOLFE said all members of his staff will now be able to operate gear on the elderly truck. He terms the vehicle a good "standby" in case of emergencies.

Taking a closer look at the drought condition considered one of the worst in Central Ohio in 53 years, Wolfe urged all residents of this community to follow the utmost measures for fire prevention. He said extreme dryness gripping the area makes this a necessity.

The chief said his department has received six calls so far this month on fires involving weeds, leaves and trash. "Fortunately, none has been of a serious nature," he added.

Another reminder was for residents to be aware of seasonal winds, rated a prime enemy during serious dry spells. Wolfe said sparks are easily carried and deposited on tinder-like grass, leaves and buildings.

The fire department official said the best preventive measure would be to refrain from burning leaves and trash, at least until rain comes.

"However, if burning is a must," he added, "the material should be in an enclosure."

He emphasized the need for persons to stay with the fire and the importance of easy access to a ready supply of water. Additional advice was to wet down the fire and make sure it is completely out before leaving the scene.

THE IMMEDIATE Circleville area has been without noticeable rain since Sept. 12 when 1.35 inches were recorded. Prior to that, the last precipitation fell here on Aug. 28—a meagre .21 inches.

Circleville, already benefitting from its new water treatment plant, seems to be in no immediate danger of an exhausted water supply. Utilities head Ervin Leist said the new operation, along with the old system, has allowed his department to build up a considerable water reserve.

Leist said the city will have plenty of water available in case of an emergency. Numerous Pickaway County farmers, reporting their wells near the drying point, have been told that water will be available to them in case of an emergency.

At least seven other Central Ohio counties face the same situation. Several of them are not as fortunate as Pickaway which can rely on the city's water reserve.

The local weatherman today gave no hint of relief. His report was fair and warm with no rain in sight.

13 GIs Lost In Viet Nam

SAIGON Viet Nam (AP)—Thirteen Americans were missing in Central Viet Nam today after the crash of two U.S. Marine helicopters and a Vietnamese fighter-bomber.

The flight pilot a U. S. Air Force captain, was believed killed along with a Vietnamese observer.

A U.S. military spokesman said their plane crashed and exploded Tuesday night in a dive-bombing run on Communist positions south of Da Nang, in the Central Viet Nam highlands. The spokesman said there was no evidence either man survived.

Two U.S. Marine helicopters with 12 Americans aboard crashed in the area today as they searched for the wreckage of the fighter-bomber. A spokesman reported there were no signs of survivors.

Names of the 13 Americans were withheld.

Military Bill Awaits JFK OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—A just approved $47.2 billion military appropriation bill that awaits President Kennedy's signature includes $73.1 million for a mobile system of missile defense that an enemy would find hard to hit.

The House passed the bill Tuesday with only three dissenting votes and then the Senate shouted it through by voice vote.

The bill's total of $47,220,010,000 represented a compromise between differing House and Senate versions and amounted to $1,794,227,000 less than the President had asked for the Defense Department.

3 Consecutive Life Terms Given Slayer

LANCASTER Ohio (AP)—The confessed killer of two women Frederick W. Spears, 26, pleaded guilty to second-degree murder and burglary charges Wednesday and was sentenced to three life terms in the Ohio Penitentiary.

Fairfield County Common Pleas Judge Merlin C. Parent specified that the life terms are to run consecutively.

Spears pleaded guilty to second degree murder charges in the deaths of Mrs. Virginia Wagner 35-year-old mother of three, on Dec. 19, and the bathtub murder of Mrs. Mona Eckard 25, of Bloom Township last May.

He also entered guilty pleas to two counts of burglary in the night season at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Cullember of near Carroll and assault with a deadly weapon on Mrs. Cullember. He received a one to five year sentence on the assault charge.

Spears said he drew a knife on Mrs. Eckard and ordered her to disrobe. She then fainted and Spears told authorities he carried her body to the bathroom and placed it in the tub. He then turned on both faucets and left the water running.

Mrs. Wagner disappeared from her Lancaster home Dec. 19 after she left to drive to East School to pick up her son Scott, 11, who was practicing basketball. Her body was found on Jan. 5 in frozen Raccoon Creek a few miles east of Lancaster. She had been strangled.

After confessing to the murders, Spears, who spent seven years in prison for strangling his own sister was sent to Lima State Hospital for observation. He was found to be sane.

Police, Doctors Team Up To Restore Boy's Sight

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Law enforcement agencies and doctors in two cities have joined forces in a mercy mission that may restore the vision of an 18-year-old boy.

The Highway Patrol, Columbus police and physicians in Dayton and Columbus pooled their efforts Tuesday so that Preston McCrery of Miamisburg might see again.

The dramatic sequence of events unfolded while the youth waited in Grandview Hospital to have doctors perform a cornea transplant.

The Highway Patrol said an apparent mixup developed when officials at Grandview here and University Hospital in Columbus thought the other had the cornea transplant.

An emergency transfer from University to the Dayton hospital became necessary because the span of time in which the cornea can be transplanted is limited.

Columbus police picked up the cornea about 6 p. m. and rushed it to a Highway Patrol plane. The plane flew the cargo here where it was transferred to a patrol car.

The cornea, in a small glass bottle, was rushed to Grandview Hospital less than 45 minutes after the urgent call had gone out.

McCrery was taken into surgery at 8:35 p. m. and doctors worked into the early morning hours transplanting the cornea.

Young McCrery was reported in satisfactory condition today following the operation. It will be several days before surgeons can determine the success of the operation.

A spokesman in Columbus said the cornea was taken at a post mortem operation from someone who had given permission to have it removed.

McCrery's mother, Mrs. Martha Harris, said her son wants more than anything else to be able to return to school.

"He was never able to finish school and that is all he talks about," she said.

The youth's eye was damaged about seven years ago when a companion threw acid into a fire while the boys were in a dump area near Franklin. The acid exploded, hitting McCrery in the face.

Two years ago, McCrery was chopping wood and in an instant the sight in his other eye was lost. "A piece of steel from the wedge he was driving into the tree hit

Old Idle Pay Claims In Ohio Show Drop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Continuing claims for unemployment compensation, those unemployed one week or more, dropped from 54,137 in the week ended Sept. 28 to 53,920 in the week ended Oct. 5, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported today.

New claims filed in the week ended Oct. 5 totaled 12,048, up from the 9,828 filed in the previous week.

Valachi Tells Of '51 Slaying

Underworld's Ban On Drugs Violated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Informant Joseph Valachi testified today that the gangland murder of Willy Moretti was "a mercy killing" ordered by the men who ruled the crime brotherhood, Cosa Nostra.

He said John Robilotto—Johnny Roberts—was one of the men who killed Moretti in a New Jersey restaurant in 1951.

"It's supposed to be a mercy killing because he was sick," Valachi told the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

He said Moretti ruled a gang of 40 to 50 men in New Jersey.

"He was like independent" Valachi said. "He had his own little army."

John J. Bergin, assistant attorney general of New Jersey, testified that his general information tends to corroborate Valachi's version of the Moretti killing.

Sworn as a witness, Bergin endorsed two new laws the Justice Department hopes may develop from the present hearings—one to permit wiretapping and another to pressure witnesses to testify in racketeering cases.

"I personally believe" Bergin said, "we have reached a point where these people depicted here represent such a menace. . . we must, with proper safeguards, have wiretapping."

With telephone wiretapping legalized, Bergin said, "Four men can do the work of 400" in investigating the underworld.

Valachi said Vito Genovese, the man he has labeled the biggest boss in the Cosa Nostra lineup, didn't like Moretti's operation.

The Cosa Nostra bosses, Valachi said, began talking about Moretti's being cut of his mind because

Blood Supply Said To Be Extremely Low

The blood supply at the Columbus Regional Center is "extremely low", T. D. Harmon, vice chairman of the Pickaway County committee said today in reminding local citizens of the Bloodmobile's visit tomorrow at the First Methodist Church.

In a message to the local chapter this week, the administrator of the center said "light collections have depleted the blood supply to an emergency level. It is imperative that the Pickaway County operation provide a quota collection."

Harmon said that due to the shortage, it has been necessary to call special donors to Berger Hospital twice in the past month. On Sept. 4, Lydia Delong, Joseph Bartz, Ralph Dunkel and Lee Holbrook each made a blood donation. Yesterday Jack Hutchinson and Albert Petty responded to a need for O-negative blood for a patient at the hospital.

Harmon added that all county residents are entitled to their entire blood needs when they are hospitalized but it is important that everyone accept a personal responsibility for helping to keep the supply at a sufficient level to meet special needs when they arise.

Bloodmobile hours tomorrow will be 11 a. m. until 5 p. m.

Student Cleared In Coed Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Police detectives said today their investigation and a lie detector test have cleared a 22-year-old part-time Ohio State University student of any blame in the murder of Mary Margaret Andrews of near Steubenville.

The student owned a .22 caliber pistol that was linked to the slaying of the coed by ballistics tests conducted by Columbus Police and the FBI.

The student claimed someone stole the gun from a fishing tackle box in his car before the slaying on Sept. 20, 1962.

HOPEWELL, N. J. (AP)—Lawrence N. Houston, the first Negro ever appointed superintendent of a New Jersey state institution, says he is "looking for a place to hang my hat."

"It's hectic. There's never a dull moment," Houston said of his new post as director of the Highfields project for rehabilitating juvenile offenders.

"I get here at 6 a. m. and cook breakfast with the boys," Houston said, "and some nights it's pretty late when I get home."

Houston, 35, took over at Highfields after five years as a psychologist at a New Jersey reformatory.

"It's supposed to be a mercy killing because he was sick," Valachi told the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

He said Moretti ruled a gang of 40 to 50 men in New Jersey. "He was like independent," Valachi said. "He had his own little army."

John J. Bergin, assistant attorney general of New Jersey, testified that his general information tends to corroborate Valachi's version of the Moretti killing.

Sworn as a witness, Bergin endorsed two new laws the Justice Department hopes may develop from the present hearings — one to permit wiretapping and another to pressure witnesses to testify in racketeering cases.

"I personally believe" Bergin said, "we have reached a point where these people depicted here represent such a menace. . . we must, with proper safeguards, have wiretapping."

With telephone wiretapping legalized, Bergin said, "Four men can do the work of 400" in investigating the underworld.

Valachi said Vito Genovese, the man he has labeled the biggest boss in the Cosa Nostra lineup, didn't like Moretti's operation.

The Cosa Nostra bosses, Valachi said, began talking about Moretti's being out of his mind because

Blood Supply Said To Be Extremely Low

The blood supply at the Columbus Regional Center is "extremely low," T. D. Harmon, vice chairman of the Pickaway County committee said today in reminding local citizens of the Bloodmobile's visit tomorrow at the First Methodist Church.

In a message to the local chapter this week, the administrator of the center said "light collections have depleted the blood supply to an emergency level. It is imperative that the Pickaway County operation provide a quota collection."

Harmon said that due to the shortage, it has been necessary to call special donors to Berger Hospital twice in the past month.

On Sept. 4, Lydia Delong, Joseph Bartz, Ralph Dunkel and Lee Holbrook each made a blood donation. Yesterday Jack Hutchinson and Albert Petty responded to a need for O-negative blood for a patient at the hospital.

Harmon added that all county residents are entitled to their entire blood needs when they are hospitalized but it is important that everyone accept a personal responsibility for helping to keep the supply at a sufficient level to meet special needs when they arise.

Bloodmobile hours tomorrow will be 11 a. m. until 5 p. m.

Student Cleared In Coed Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Police detectives said today their investigation and a lie detector test have cleared a 22-year-old part-time Ohio State University student of any blame in the murder of Mary Margaret Andrews of near Steubenville.

The student owned a .22 caliber pistol that was linked to the slaying of the coed by ballistics tests conducted by Columbus Police and the FBI.

The student claimed someone stole the gun from a fishing tackle box in his car before the slaying on Sept. 20, 1962.

City Schools To Observe National School Lunch Week

The school children of Circleville City Schools are among 590,000 students who will enjoy a well-balanced lunch in some 2,275 Ohio Schools during National School Lunch Week, which begins Monday.

"This program means improved health and better accomplishment in school," says V. M. Cress, local school lunch director. Nationwide, the school lunch program is a one and a quarter billion dollar business, reaching more than 16 million school children daily in the United States.

Cress said that this food market amounts to $27,750,000 a year in Ohio and $95,385 in Circleville.

Last year the Circleville City School lunch program required the purchase of food and services locally in excess of $60,000. Each of the 227,992 lunches in the city schools included at least a half-pint of milk purchased from a local dairy. This makes the school lunch program an important part of the local economy, Cress said.

The city schools' 14 employees report to their respective school lunch kitchens early each school morning and hustle about the business of preparing meals planned according to government specifications to supply one-third of each child's daily food needs.

Lunches are available for 30 cents in both the elementary and high schools.

These prices are made possible by the aid of federal cash reimbursement of approximately four cents a meal and federally donated foods amounting to about eight cents per meal.

At these prices the well-balanced school lunches are the best value for the money and far superior — nutritionally — to the average home-packed lunch, Cress stated.

President Kennedy recently proclaimed October 13-19, as the second annual national commemoration of the school lunch role in keeping the nation healthy and strong. This year's celebration theme is "School Lunch Serves the Nation Through Food for Learning." Governor Rhodes likewise has issued a proclamation declaring the same period to be "School Lunch Week in Ohio."

News of World in Brief

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — James H. Dennewitz Jr., 19, of Chillicothe, whose father and two uncles met death in action during World War II, was starting the life of a soldier at Fort Dix, N.J., today.

Young Dennewitz, a graduate of Chillicothe High School in 1962, attended Ohio State University last year and while there took part in ROTC activities.

Last week, he joined the Army in Columbus, saying "I believe each of us owes an obligation to the United States and the service should be done, rather than try to avoid it."

CINCINNATI (AP) — Trial of Cincinnati Reds' outfielder Vada Pinson on a charge of assault and battery on Sportsman Earl Lawson was postponed again today in Police Court when Pinson's attorney asked for a jury trial.

Both sides agreed and Judge

George S. Heitzler set the trial for Dec. 11.

Lawson claimed Pinson shoved him in an argument over a story written by Lawson in which the sportswriter said Pinson's failure to hunt more often could cost him the National League batting championship. Pinson claimed he bunted when ordered to do so by manager Fred Hutchinson.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Citizens for Ohio's Future, a group supporting Ohio's $250 million capital improvements bond issue, has issued figures which it says show that the state should build now and pay less.

Thomas F. Patton, chairman of the group said Tuesday that experience indicates construction costs will increase about 3 percent each year for the next 10 to 20 years and that interest rates will also be about 3 percent.

He explained that the bond would be paid off by continuing the penny-a-pack cigarette tax authorized in 1955 in a similar $150 million bond issue.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board certified Local 413, affiliated with the Teamsters' Union, today as the collective bargaining agent for 19 employees of the Ohio Valley Baking Co. of Chillicothe.

In issuing the certification, the NLRB rejected objections filed by the Independent Bakery Salesmen Union to the results of the election held July 31.

The election showed 14 votes for the Teamster Union and 5 for the independent group.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc., has become the 27th state group to pass national PTA policies.

Four more states must adopt the policies, dealing mostly with the federal government, before they become active.

One suggests that the U. S. Office of Education become autonomous, governed by a federal board of education. Others specify how federal funds should be meted out and controlled, maintaining a maximum of local control.

MOSCOW (AP) — Yuri Gagarin, the first Soviet cosmonaut, left Moscow aboard a special flight for Cuba, where he'll join woman cosmonaut Valentina Tereshkova. Moscow reported the two will go to Mexico to attend the 56th annual General Conference of the International Aeronautical Federation, opening Oct. 12.

Stolen Typewriter, TV Recovered Here

A television set and a typewriter, recently stolen from a Fairfield County implement firm, were found near Asheville yesterday.

Mrs. Harry Speakman, Route 2, Asheville, told Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff George Linder she discovered the stolen articles near a farm lane.

The articles were turned over to Fairfield County authorities.

Nicholas PTA Plans First Meet Tomorrow

The Nicholas Drive Parent Teacher Assn. will have its first meeting of the school year 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in the school.

Robert Brehmer will discuss the need for continued growth and improvement in the physical plant of the Circleville School System.

Area Resident Is Fined for No License

Orville Gene Meadows, 25, Pickaway County resident was found guilty by Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb of driving a car while he had no operator's license.

Meadows was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 15 days in the county jail. Judge Lamb suspended $75 of the fine and the jail sentence, placing Meadows on probation for three years.

Meadows, involved in an automobile accident on Sept. 29 that resulted in the death of his brother Henry Albert Meadows, was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way by the Pickaway County Sheriff's department.

Judge Lamb ruled there was insufficient evidence on the latter charge to prove beyond a reasonable doubt the driver of the car at the time of the accident.

He pointed out that although Meadows admitted to driving the car earlier in the day, he denied being at the wheel at the time of the accident.

Other court traffic action included:

Norman Smith, 57, Columbus; $24 bond forfeiture for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Margaret Uhl, 19, 345 Brown St.; $12 and costs for speeding 37 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone.

John Caudill, 70, Route 3; $15 and costs with $10 of the fine suspended for speeding 40 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone.

Esther Cook, 42, Stoutsville; $15 and costs for speeding 40 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone.

Wilmer S. Jackson, 21, Columbus; $30 and costs for reckless operation.

Cordella Sue Woodling, 23, Mt. Sterling; $50 and costs with $25 of the fine suspended for driving a motor vehicle while her operator's license was suspended. She was placed on probation for one year.

Stolen Typewriter, TV Recovered Here

A television set and a typewriter, recently stolen from a Fairfield County implement firm, were found near Ashville yesterday.

Mrs. Harry Speakman, Route 2, Ashville, told Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff George Linder she discovered the stolen articles near a farm lane.

The articles were turned over to Fairfield County authorities.

Area Resident Is Fined for No License

Orville Gene Meadows, 25, Pickaway County resident was found guilty by Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb of driving a car while he had no operator's license.

Meadows was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 15 days in the county jail. Judge Lamb suspended $75 of the fine and the jail sentence, placing Meadows on probation for three years.

Meadows, involved in an automobile accident on Sept. 29 that resulted in the death of his brother Henry Albert Meadows, was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way by the Pickaway County Sheriff's department.

Judge Lamb ruled there was insufficient evidence on the latter charge to prove beyond a reasonable doubt the driver of the car at the time of the accident.

He pointed out that although Meadows admitted to driving the car earlier in the day, he denied being at the wheel at the time of the accident.

Other court traffic action included:

Norman Smith, 57, Columbus; $24 bond forfeiture for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Margaret Uhl, 19, 345 Brown St.; $12 and costs for speeding 37 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone.

John Caudill, 70, Route 3; $15 and costs with $10 of the fine suspended for speeding 40 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone.

Esther Cook, 42, Stoutsville; $15 and costs for speeding 40 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone.

Wilmer S. Jackson, 21, Columbus; $30 and costs for reckless operation.

Cordelia Sue Woodling, 23, Mt. Sterling; $50 and costs with $25 of the fine suspended for driving a motor vehicle while her operator's license was suspended. She was placed on probation for one year.

Deaths

MRS. FLORENCE GAUDIO
Mrs. Florence Gaudio, 75, Route 2, Laurelville, died 10 a.m. today at her residence.

She was born June 22, 1888, in Columbiana County the daughter of Robert and Eliza J. Knight.

Surviving are her husband, Joseph Gaudio; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Klett, Route 2, Laurelville; one grandchild and seven great grandchildren.

Services will be 1 p.m. Saturday at the Deckerbaugh Funeral Home. Burial will be in Green Summit Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 6 p.m. Thursday.

Scouts To Operate PS Parking Service

Auto parking and a bus service will be offered during Pumpkin Show by Explorer Scout Post No 3 and the Order of the Arrow, assisted by parents.

The scouts will operate the parking lot at the Fairgrounds and a bus service to the downtown area. A parking fee will be charged which will include the ride to and from the downtown area.

Scouts will operate the parking lot and qualified drivers will operate buses instead of a shuttle bus service as previously announced by Pumpkin Show directors.

Are Results Being Obtained?

More than $15 billion has been committed to various research programs by the federal government. Certainly it is everybody's business whether the greatest possible results are being obtained for the money.

A full investigation into the scope, conduct and progress of the government's research undertaking has been approved by the House. The job will not be easy. Often it requires subjective judgments, based on esoteric knowledge, to determine whether research is fruitful.

Some of the work which might appear to be unsuccessful has the value, at least, of dispelling false theories, even if it produces no information to advance a specific project.

But there might be one line of inquiry that could prove useful. Government agencies are doing about one-fourth of the research, figured in dollars, 15 per cent is done by colleges and universities and non-profit organizations, and 60 per cent by private, profit-making organizations.

Whether this is an equitable distribution of the research dollar should be thoroughly investigated. Wouldn't efficiency be served if some of the government's activities in this field were turned over to private enterprise?

She Avoids 'Heavy Weather'

NEW YORK (AP)—Ever afterward the girl would remember this moment as the turning point in her life.

She was tall and slender and 17 years old. She had green-blue eyes and reddish gold hair, and the freckles on her fair skin shone like tiny doubloons scattered by wastrel elves.

She walked hesitantly into the room where a number of men sat smoking.

"Say the Lord's Prayer," brusquely commanded proreicer Gabriel Pascal.

"Our Father, who art in heaven," began the girl. For a moment, frightened, she paused, then went on. "Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, thy will be done."

The room became silent except for her voice. When she had finished, the men exchanged glances.

Then Pascal signed the girl who had been living on $10 a week in a London YWCA, to her first movie role—as the Salvation Army lass in Bernard Shaw's "Major Barbara."

Deborah Kerr, now an international film star who has six times been nominated for academy awards, recalled the incident during a stopover on her way to Mexico to make her 28th picture, "Night of the Iguana," in which she will co-star with Richard Burton and Ava Gardner.

"I was so unnerfed that I was afraid I'd forget the words of the prayer," she said.

Miss Kerr carries herself with an air of aristocratic grace and elegance that is rescued from aloofness by an easy warmth and those down-to-earth freckles, which she doesn't mind at all.

"If you have freckles, you might as well relax and enjoy them," she remarked. "There's nothing you can do about them."

The major tensions that afflict many actresses seem to have passed Deborah by.

"But my biggest fault probably is fretting over trifles," she said. "I'm terribly indecisive — perhaps because I was born in September under the 'odious sign of Libra.'"

Miss Kerr has wide-ranging interests—painting, the piano, poetry, and studying cook books. Her favorite food is "spaghetti with anything," and her greatest achievement is "to be able to cook marvelously."

Deborah is somewhat apologetic over being so distressingly normal.

"I have a happy life," she said. "Perhaps I should be a bit more of a kook, but I'm afraid I'm too old to start."

She said that her philosophy stems from her aunt who on giving birth to a child at the age of 48 and being asked what it was like, replied, "Never make heavy weather of anything, dear."

"Now doesn't that sound terribly British and nautical?" asked Deborah, smiling. "But it's a good phrase to live by."

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Weather still can affect the course of business and public and individual fortunes despite all the man-made economic and political systems.

It can set the price of many things from food to clothing to shelter—even the price of gold.

Weather can weaken governments or parties along with specific corporations or enterprises. It can change long-held government policies, although its effects may show up more quickly on commodity markets and sometimes stock exchanges.

Any merchant can tell you how fair days or foul can affect his sales on any one day—or how temperature and precipitation variations can make or break any one season for him.

The Communist nations have been taking their licks from the weather to the accompaniment of dramatic headlines—wheat shortages in Russia, hurricane damage in Cuba. But weather also has been setting economic courses in non-Communist countries. Many of the patterns are pleasant this year. Some are not.

Coffee merchants are saying prices may rise this winter. The reason: Brazil's crop has been badly hit by drought and frost, and also by forest fires blamed on the drought.

The price of sugar may be tied to the skirts of Hurricane Flora, even if the United States no longer gets any of its sugar from Cuba. The reason: Russia has been either consuming or acting

Almost 68 per cent of American husbands now take a nap right after dinner, a furniture company's survey shows. Look — doesn't anybody help Mom with the dishes anymore?

Some husband's snooze only a half-hour, others from an hour to all evening it reported. Probably depends on the quality of night's TV programs.

However, don't blame Hubby for this situation. It's all Mom's fault — she shouldn't cook so good!

Meanwhile, Englewood Junior School in Carlisle, England, has established a course for parents in which they're taught how to do homework. What we'd like to know is — must Mom and Dad have to show the kids report cards and get THEIR signatures?

A one-time radio singing cowboy star has bought control of a plush San Francisco hotel. That's quite a roundup, partner!

A 1,000-year-old mummy has been discovered near Cody, Wyo., archeologists report. Now don't tell us that the Egyptians, too, beat Columbus to the discovery of America!

The state of Florida is shrinking due to encroachment of sea water, say some scientists. Good grief — could two of Florida's three greatest assets — the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico — prove too much of a good thing.

The ghost of Catherine Howard is said to race screaming along the picture gallery of Hampton Court Palace as she seeks her husband, Henry VIII, to beg his mercy.

as middleman for Cuba's sugar crop. Flora is reported to have damaged it heavily, adding to the already admitted damage caused by the shortcomings of the Communist regime there.

The world sugar market will be affected by the loss of the Cuban crop and with world sugar prices already high, and fluctuating, the price in the United States may be affected.

Weather, however, has been kind to the U.S. sugar beet industry. A bumper crop here will temper the effects of Flora's rampage.

The failure of the Russian wheat crop is chalked up to bad weather, with an assist from Communist collective inefficiencies. Russia's shortage has had widespread reactions.

Canada has sold Russia 239 million bushels and Australia has sold 58.5 million bushels. The sale particularly helps Canada just now because perfect weather has given Saskatchewan a near record wheat crop this year to overflow the storage facilities.

Russia's wheat dearth expanded further into international finances. To pay for its grain purchases Russia has been selling gold on the free market in Europe, an estimated 300 tons, of $280 million worth in September alone. This is more than its average annual sales volume.

The offering has forced the price on the London market below $35.07 an ounce. The official U.S. Treasury price, plus handling charges, is $35.08.

All this takes pressure off the U.S. gold reserves—thanks to the bad wheat weather in Russia.

It also may be giving Russia still another headache. Gold producers estimate that Soviet mining is relatively expensive, that it actually costs Russia $70 an ounce to produce the metal it's selling. That spell of bad weather may be crippling the Communist economy in more ways than one.

The S. S. Constitution entered the water at Boston Harbor on Oct. 21, 1797. Nine months later she put to sea to guard American trade routes against pirates and privateers.

D'OLY CARTE, patron saint of England's greatest Gilbert and Sullivan troupe, had a son named Rupert who was very, very tall, very, very pale, and wore a monocle at the age of sixteen. One day at school a master asked him in class, "How are you, Carte?" The lad answered solemnly, "Sir, I get thinnish and thinnish!"

The island of Majorca boasts an up-to-the-minute consorsial establishment whose three barbers are specialists. A neat sign on the mirror of Barber Number One proclaims that he is eminently qualified to converse on general news. Number Two's specialties are motion pictures, the drama, and sports. Number Three majors on culture—and women. The customer pays his money and takes his choice. Barber Number Three seems to get most of the younger clientele.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

We have been advised to have our son's tonsils and adenoids removed in the Fall.

When is the danger of polio past, so we can plan a date for the operation?

Mrs. E. L. Illinois

Dear Mrs. L.: Public Health officials agree that "elective" surgery on children should be delayed until after the summer months. Elective surgery unlike emergency surgery, is performed at a time that is most advantageous and convenient for the patient.

Although polio is almost nonexistent in children who have been vaccinated against it, special precautions are still taken. Operations such as hernia, tonsils and eye squint are usually deferred until after "the polio season" has passed its peak.

Health Department officials suggest to doctors in their own community just when to resume tonsil surgery. The rulings on starting dates may vary by a week or two in different cities, but all agree that October first is a safe time to begin such surgery.

Both my wife and my son, aged six, say that they are car sick as soon as we start to drive. I think it's psychological.

How shall I handle it?

J. L. Massachusetts

Dear Mr. L.: Carsickness is a definite form of motion sickness. Its cause and symptoms are the same as seasickness or train sickness.

Some people are particularly sensitive to motion and are made exceedingly uncomfortable by it. Dizziness and nausea are common complaints. Children are usually more affected than adults by carsickness.

Motion sickness is caused by a temporary disturbance in the balance mechanism deep within the inner ear. Rapid changes caused by motion disturb the semi-circular canals and thus affect equilibrium.

One should not impatiently attribute this unpleasant sensation to a psychological cause. Although the emotions can be a factor in producing carsickness, there is greater likelihood that the basis for these symptoms is a physical one.

There now are available a large variety of drugs which are excellent for the prevention and control of motion sickness. The U. S. Navy has developed derivatives of antihistamines to alleviate these annoying symptoms. Small doses suggested by your physician before and during driving should effect relief.

It should be emphasized that the driver of the car should not take antihistamines because of their tendency to create sleepiness in susceptible people.

I am in my thirties and have times of despondency. I intend to get married, but want to clear up this trouble first. I get upset and feel not wanted.

M. R. Maine

Guidance from your doctor, a psychologist or your spiritual adviser will probably alleviate your symptoms. Open and frank discussion with someone who is trained to help, particularly in psychological problems, will give you greater assurance for a happy marriage.

A Man in Trouble

By John Chamberlain

When Khrushchev talks to the West, either by himself or through mouthpieces like Gromyko, the words are subject to all sorts of discount. This is why East-West "dialogues" are usually so profitless. But when the boss of the Kremlin talks to his own people the West can really get a clue to what is going on in that mysterious world behind the Iron Curtain.

This column has consistently held that Khrushchev is currently in such trouble internally that it should be the Number One priority of our diplomacy to get concessions from him while the getting is good. Of course, I haven't been to Soviet Russia, and I have doubted in the past that I would be welcome to a visa. So my opinion has little effect on professional Kremlinologists. But even without traveling in Russia it is still possible to get a picture of its troubles by putting together Khrushchev's various jollifications, harangues, importunings and diatribes as he travels about his own empire.

With all respect to the professional Kremlinologists, they are not very good at putting together Khrushchev's own words to his own people. So let's try to paint a perspective picture based on some recent Khrushchev statements that have been monitored by various eavesdroppers.

The most important Khrushchev statement of recent months has made to the workers in a reactor plant on August 22 in Yugoslavia. "Mass production," so Khrushchev told the Yugoslavs, "will be decisive. The system that produces the most will win. We must out-produce the capitalist countries. We in the Soviet Union can organize on the basis of mass production. Yugoslavia cannot do it. Bulgaria cannot do it. Czechoslovakia cannot do it, nor the Poles. Only the Soviet Union and China can do it. We can organize anything on an assembly-line basis."

What this speech would seem to be saying is that Khrushchev doesn't think his empire is ready for military war, just yet. There is, first, the question of mass production organization to settle. But please, so he seems to be importing the people of Yugoslavia and the East European satellite countries, please, please, please don't be difficult while the Soviet is busy getting its assembly lines working.

Since "only he Soviet Union and China" are capable of mass production, there isn't any point in exporting Soviet machine tools to Poland or Hungary. Let them patiently raise cabbages and wait. But when Khrushchev told the Yugoslav workers that the East European nations must leave it to Russia to organize for mass production, he did not mean to imply that he was finding it easy to plan for effective Soviet assembly lines. Talking to a group of industrial managers in Moscow, Khrushchev had already lamented the difficulties he was having in trying to pound sense into his party economic officials. "There was a time," so Khrushchev said, "when the power of a state was measured in terms of the amount of steel it could produce. . . . But now, when there are other materials competing with steel, such a criterion is no longer adequate. . . . Some planners have put on 'steel blinkers' and now look and act as they were once taught. We now have a material that surpasses steel and costs less, and they still cry 'Steel, Steel!'"

In other words, Khrushchev was saying that top-down planning of an assembly-line civilization just doesn't get around to solving its problems. Wearing their "steel blinkers," the Soviet planners had let the plastics and aluminum technicians and capitalists of the West steal a number of marches on the Russians. So there will be a mad rush in the Soviet Union to catch up in plastics like polypropylene, and in the reduction of bauxite to aluminum ingots.

But how fast can the plastics "catch-up" go when Soviet agriculture demands planning priorities? Speaking to his peasants, Khrushchev recently berated them for not listening to the "growl of thunder." Then he promised them more chemical fertilizers and more irrigation. All this in practicality the same sentence in which he admitted he difficulty of solving both the fertilizer problem and the irrigation pipe problem at one and the same time.

A picture, indeed, of a dictator in terrible trouble just trying to use his own brains and energy to make up for the nagging deficiencies of his own subjects who persist in letting him down. One of these days Khrushchev might get made enough to reintroduce capitalism just out of spite.

GUARD TO REMAIN IN CAMBRIDGE—Following a meeting between state and city officials in Annapolis, Md., (above), Maryland Gov. J. Millard Tawes (left) announces the state's National Guard will remain in Cambridge. A city referendum to open public accommodations to Negroes was defeated Oct. 1. ANGOSTURA'S SON-IN-LAW IS A REAL HELPMATE TO HER PRECIOUS PIMENTA... OF HIM, ANGY SAYS, QUOTE:

Are Results Being Obtained?

More than $15 billion has been committed to various research programs by the federal government. Certainly it is everybody's business whether the greatest possible results are being obtained for the money.

A full investigation into the scope, conduct and progress of the government's research undertaking has been approved by the House. The job will not be easy. Often it requires subjective judgments, based on esoteric knowledge, to determine whether research is fruitful.

Some of the work which might appear to be unsuccessful has the value, at least, of dispelling false theories, even if it produces no information to advance a specific project.

But there might be one line of inquiry that could prove useful. Government agencies are doing about one-fourth of the research, figured in dollars, 15 per cent is done by colleges and universities and non-profit organizations, and 60 per cent by private, profit-making organizations.

Whether this is an equitable distribution of the research dollar should be thoroughly investigated. Wouldn't efficiency be served if some of the government's activities in this field were turned over to private enterprise?

She Avoids 'Heavy Weather'

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Ever afterward the girl would remember this moment as the turning point in her life.

She was tall and slender and 17 years old. She had green-blue eyes and reddish gold hair, and the freckles on her fair skin shone like tiny doubletons scattered by wastrel elves.

She walked hesitantly into the room where a number of men sat smoking.

"Say the Lord's Prayer," brusquely commanded the portly Gabriel Pascal.

"Our Father, who art in heaven," began the girl. For a moment, frightened, she paused, then went on. "Hallowed be thy name. 'Thy kingdom come, thy will be done.'"

The room became silent except for her voice. When she had finished, the men exchanged glances.

Then Pascal signed the girl who had been living on $10 a week in a London YWCA, to her first movie role—as the Salvation Army lass in Bernard Shaw's "Major Barbara."

Deborah Kerr, now an international film star who has six times been nominated for academy awards, recalled the incident during a stopover on her way to Mexico to make her 28th picture, "Night of the Iguana," in which she will co-star with Richard Burton and Ava Gardner.

"I was so unnerfed that I was afraid I'd forget the words of the prayer," she said.

Miss Kerr carries herself with an air of aristocratic grace and elegance that is rescued from aloofness by an easy warmth and those down-to-earth freckles, which she doesn't mind at all.

"If you have freckles, you might as well relax and enjoy them," she remarked. "There's nothing you can do about them."

The major tensions that afflict many actresses seem to have passed Deborah by.

"But my biggest fault probably is fretting over trifles," she said. "I'm terribly indecisive — perhaps because I was born in September under the 'odious sign of Libra.'"

Miss Kerr has wide-ranging interests—painting, the piano, poetry, and studying cook books. Her favorite food is "spaghetti with anything," and her greatest unachieved ambition is "to be able to cook marvelously."

Deborah is somewhat apologetic over being so distressingly normal.

"I have a happy life," she said. "Perhaps I should be a bit more of a kook, but I'm afraid I'm too old to start."

She said that her philosophy stems from her aunt who on giving birth to a child at the age of 48 and being asked what it was like, replied, "Never make heavy weather of anything, dear."

"Now doesn't that sound terribly British and nautical?" asked Deborah, smiling. "But it's a good phrase to live by."

D'OYLY CARTE, patron saint of England's greatest Gilbert and Sullivan troupe, had a son named Rupert who was very, very tall, very, very pale, and wore a monocle at

The island of Majorca boasts an up-to-the-minute tontorial establishment whose three barbers are specialists. A neat sign on the mirror of Barber Number One proclaims that he is eminently qualified to converse on general news. Number Two's specialties are motion pictures, the drama, and sports. Number Three majors on culture—and women. The customer pays his money and takes his choice. Barber Number Three seems to get most of the younger clientele.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

We have been advised to have our son's tonsils and adenoids removed in the Fall.

When is the danger of polio past, so we can plan a date for the operation?

Mrs. E. L. Illinois Dear Mrs. L.: Public Health officials agree that "elective" surgery on children should be delayed until after the summer months. Effective surgery unlike emergency surgery, is performed at a time that is most advantageous and convenient for the patient.

Although polio is almost nonexistent in children who have been vaccinated against it, special precautions are still taken. Operations such as hernia, tonsils and eye squint are usually deferred until after "the polio season" has passed its peak.

Health Department officials suggest to doctors in their own community just when to resume tonsil surgery. The rulings on starting dates may vary by a week or two in different cities, but all agree that October first is a safe time to begin such surgery.

Both my wife and my son, aged six, say that they are car sick as soon as we start to drive. I think it's psychological.

How shall I handle it? J. L. Massachusetts Dear Mr. L.: Carsickness is a definite form of motion sickness. Its cause and symptoms are the same as seasickness or train sickness.

Some people are particularly sensitive to motion and are made exceedingly uncomfortable by it. Dizziness and nausea are com-

A Man in Trouble

By John Chamberlain

When Khrushchev talks to the West, either by himself or through mouthpieces like Gromyko, the words are subject to all sorts of discount. This is why East-West "dialogues" are usually so profitless. But when the boss of the Kremlin talks to his own people the West can really get a clue to what is going on in that mysterious world behind the Iron Curtain.

This column has consistently held that Khrushchev is currently in such trouble internally that it should be the Number One priority of our diplomacy to get concessions from him while the getting is good. Of course, I haven't been to Soviet Russia, and I have doubted in the past that I would be welcome to a visa. So my opinion has little effect on professional Kremlinologists. But even without travelling in Russia it is still possible to get a picture of its troubles by putting together Khrushchev's various jollifications, harangues, importunings and diatribes as he travels about his own empire.

With all respect to the professional Kremlinologists, they are not very good at putting together Khrushchev's own words to his own people. So let's try to paint a perspective picture based on some recent Khrushchev statements that have been monitored by various eavedroppers.

The most important Khrushchev statement of recent months has been to the workers in a reactor plant on August 22 in Yugoslavia. "Mass production," so Khrushchev told the Yugoslavs, "will be decisive. The system that produces the most will win. We must out-produce the capitalist countries. We in the Soviet Union can organize on the basis of mass production. Yugoslavia cannot do it. Bulgaria cannot do it. Czechoslovakia cannot do it, nor the Poles. Only the Soviet Union and China can do it. We can organize anything on an assembly-line basis."

What this speech would seem to be saying is that Khrushchev doesn't think his empire is ready for military war, just yet. There is, first, the question of mass production organization to settle. But, please, so he seems to be impugning the people of Yugoslavia and the East European satellite countries, please, please, please, don't be difficult while the Soviet is busy getting its assembly lines working.

Since "only he Soviet Union and China" are capable of mass production, there isn't any point in exporting Soviet machine tools to Poland or Hungary. Let them patiently raise cabbage and wait. But when Khrushchev told the Yugoslav workers that the East European nations must leave it to Russia to organize for mass production, he did not mean to imply that he was finding it easy to plan for effective Soviet assembly lines. Talking to a group of industrial managers in Moscow, Khrushchev had already lamented the difficulties he was having in trying to pound sense into his party economic officials. "There was a time," so Khrushchev said, "when the power of a state was measured in terms of the amount of steel it could produce. . . But now, when there are other materials competing with steel, such a criterion is no longer adequate. . . Some planners have put on 'steel blinkers' and now look and act as they were once taught. The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Weather still can affect the course of business and public and individual fortunes despite all the man-made economic and political systems.

It can set the price of many things from food to clothing to shelter—even the price of gold.

Weather can weaken governments or parties along with specific corporations or enterprises. It can change long-held government policies, although its effects may show up more quickly on commodity markets and sometimes stock exchanges.

Any merchant can tell you how fair days or foul can affect his sales on any one day—or how temperature and precipitation variations can make or break any one season for him.

The Communist nations have been taking their licks from the weather to the accompaniment of dramatic headlines—wheat shortages in Russia, hurricane damage in Cuba. But weather also has been setting economic courses in non-Communist countries. Many of the patterns are pleasant this year. Some are not.

Coffee merchants are saying prices may rise this winter. The reason: Brazil's crop has been badly hit by drought and frost, and also by forest fires blamed on the drought.

The price of sugar may be tied to the skirts of Hurricane Flora, even if the United States no longer gets any of its sugar from Cuba. The reason: Russia has been either consuming or acting as middleman for Cuba's sugar crop. Flora is reported to have damaged it heavily, adding to the already admitted damage caused by the shortcomings of the Communist regime there.

The world sugar market will be affected by the loss of the Cuban crop and with world sugar prices already high, and fluctuating, the price in the United States may be affected.

Weather, however, has been kind to the U.S. sugar beet industry. A bumper crop here will temper the effects of Flora's rampage.

The failure of the Russian wheat crop is chalked up to bad weather, with an assist from Communist collective inefficiencies. Russia's shortage has had widespread reactions.

Canada has sold Russia 239 million bushels and Australia has sold 58.5 million bushels. The sale particularly helps Canada just now because perfect weather has given Saskatchewan a near record wheat crop this year to overflow the storage facilities.

Russia's wheat dearth expanded further into international finances. To pay for its grain purchases Russia has been selling gold on the free market in Europe, an estimated 300 tons, of $280 million worth in September alone. This is more than its average annual sales volume.

The offering has forced the price on the London market below $35.07 an ounce. The official U.S. Treasury price, plus handling charges, is $35.08.

All this takes pressure off the U.S. gold reserves—thanks to the bad wheat weather in Russia. It also may be giving Russia still another headache. Gold producers estimate that Soviet mining is relatively expensive, that it actually costs Russia $70 an ounce to produce the metal it's selling. That spell of bad weather may be crippling the Communist economy in more ways than one.

The state of Florida is shrinking due to encroachment of sea water, say some scientists. Good grief — could two of Florida's three greatest assets — the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico — prove too much of a good thing.

The ghost of Catherine Howard is said to race screaming along the picture gallery of Hampton Court Palace as she seeks her husband, Henry VIII, to beg his mercy.

5 Enrollment at BG
Reaches New High

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—A record 9,185 students are enrolled at Bowling Green State University, 784 more than last fall. Registrar Glenn Van Wormer said there are 3,238 students on the main campus here, 872 in BG branches at Bryan, Fostoria, Fremont and Sandusky and 75 in extension classes at Bucyrus, Rossford, Sandusky and Wauseon.

The freshman class also set a record with 2,601 enrolled.

Expert Says U.S. Economy To Hit $600 Billion Level

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's top economist has predicted that the national economy will hit the $600 billion level for the first time early next year—and bring more benefits to consumers.

The forecast came from Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers in connection with the submission of the first report to Kennedy of the Consumer Advisory Council.

The consumer council, among other things, recommended "immediate and positive action" to bar racial discrimination against customers of hotels, stores, restaurants, and other businesses. It said a larger tax cut may be required for small tax payers. It called for truth in packaging and lending.

Kennedy created the consumer council in July of last year under the chairmanship of Dr. Helen G. Canoy, dean of home economics at Cornell University, to give consumers a stronger voice in government in an advisory capacity.

Since the council was set up under the wing of the Council of Economic Advisers, Heller was asked about improvement of the consumer's position. He said that of course it was improved.

"There is more safety in drugs," he said. "In a TV set you are more sure of getting what you pay for. The advisory agency makes 22 (government) agencies aware of the consumer for the first time.

Heller said, too, that "as the economy improves the consumer improves."

That brought a question as to the state of the economy. Heller replied that in the next quarter year it should reach a rate of $600 billion a year—the value of all goods and services produced. This means a $100 billion increase since Kennedy took office, he said.

Fellow economists regarded this as a decidedly optimistic view of economic conditions as they may be expected to unfold over the next few months.

The forecast for the present quarter is that rational production should hit an annual rate of $52 billion to $59 billion before the year runs out. Heller's figures display confidence that the economy will keep climbing at a healthy rate and that the outlook is good. It also indicates a confidence that the administration's proposed $11 billion tax cut, already approved by the House, will also clear the Senate in due course.

Wheat Support
Program Figures
Announced Here

Farmers in Pickaway County put 413,434 bushels of 1963-crop wheat under price support loans and purchase agreements through the end of August, Galen D. Mowery, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee said today.

It compares with 25,150 bushels of 1962-crop wheat put under support through August 1962.

For the nation as a whole, 79.4 million bushels of 1963-crop wheat had been put under price support as of the end of August, including 67.8 million bushels stored in warehouses, 11.6 million bushels stored on farms, and 38,000 bushels under purchase agreements.

This is the smallest total of new-crop wheat put under support at the end of August since 1957. It compares with 100.6 million bushels of 1962-crop wheat put under support through August 1962, and 198.6 million bushels of 1961-crop wheat put under support through August 1961.

Wheat Support Program Figures Announced Here

Farmers in Pickaway County put 413,434 bushels of 1963-crop wheat under price support loans and purchase agreements through the end of August, Galen D. Mowery, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee said today.

It compares with 25,150 bushels of 1962-crop wheat put under support through August 1962.

For the nation as a whole, 79.4 million bushels of 1963-crop wheat had been put under price support as of the end of August, including 67.8 million bushels stored in warehouses, 11.6 million bushels stored on farms, and 58,000 bushels under purchase agreements.

This is the smallest total of new-crop wheat put under support at the end of August since 1957. It compares with 100.6 million bushels of 1962-crop wheat put under support through August 1962, and 198.6 million bushels of 1961 crop wheat put under support through August 1961.

Miss Nell Ridgeway, Miss Hazel Ridgeway, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Ridgeway and Linda, Mr. Harvey Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Graham and Cheryl, Mrs. Elsie Smith and Nancy and Mrs. Carl Vance enjoyed a picnic lunch and a scenic trip through the hills of Southern Ohio last Sunday.

Mrs. Virgie Higgins had as dinner guests on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. William Deyo of Harrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. William Hollar of Columbus and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wardell.

Birthday greetings are extended here to Rev. Charles Hill and to David Musselman.

Rhodes Believes Ag Station Is Valuable

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has scotched rumors that the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station here will be moved.

The governor said Tuesday he had not yet read the Little Hoover Commission report dealing with the station, but he agreed with the part which said moving the station would be impractical and expensive.

Enrollment at BG Reaches New High

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—A record 9,185 students are enrolled at Bowling Green State University, 784 more than last fall. Registrar Glenn Van Wormer said there are 3,238 students on the main campus here, 872 in BG branches at Bryan, Fostoria, Fremont and Sandusky and 75 in extension classes at Bucyrus, Rossford, Sandusky and Wauseon.

The freshman class also set a record with 2,601 enrolled.

Expert Says U.S. Economy To Hit $600 Billion Level

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's top economist has predicted that the national economy will hit the $600 billion level for the first time early next year—and bring more benefits to consumers.

The forecast came from Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers in connection with the submission of the first report to Kennedy of the Consumer Advisory Council.

The consumer council, among other things, recommended "immediate and positive action" to bar racial discrimination against customers of hotels, stores, theaters, restaurants and other businesses.

It said a larger tax cut may be required for small taxpayers. It called "a truth in packaging and lending."

Kennedy created the consumer council in July of last year under the chairmanship of Dr. Helen G. Canoy, dean of home economics at Cornell University, to give consumers a stronger voice in government in an advisory capacity.

Since the council was set up under the wing of the Council of Economic Advisers, Heller was asked about improvement of the consumer's position. He said that of course it was improved.

"There is more safety in drugs," he said. "In a TV set your are more sure of getting what you pay for. The advisory agency makes 22 (government) agencies aware of the consumer for the first time.

Heller said, too, that "as the economy improves the consumer improves."

That brought a question as to the state of the economy. Heller replied that in the next quarter year it should reach a rate of $600 billion a year—the value of all goods and services produced. This means a $100 billion increase since Kennedy took office, he said.

Fellow economists regarded this as a decidedly optimistic view of economic conditions as they may be expected to unfold over the next few months.

The forecast for the present quarter is that national production should hit an annual rate of $52 billion to $54 billion before the year runs out. Heller's figure displays confidence that the economy will keep climbing at a healthy rate and that the outlook is good. It also indicates a confidence that the administration's proposed $11 billion tax cut, already approved by the House, will also clear the Senate in due course.

State Ruling Made On Trustee Powers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe has ruled that township trustees can operate or contract for operation of emergency squads and rescue vehicles only in connection with fire protection. The opinion was requested by Ralph A. Hull, prosecuting attorney for Clermont County.

The attorney general also ruled that the position of township clerk is incompatible with being a member of the board of health of a general health district. That opinion was requested by Prosecutor Thomas R. Spelcer of Seneca County.

International Night Held By Civic Club

International Night was observed by the Ashville Women's Civic Club, a member of the Ohio Federation of Women's Club, when they met Thursday evening in the First English Lutheran Church. Present were two international guests, both residents of the community, Mrs. Surko Backstrom, a native of Japan and Mrs. Exuperancia (Pat) Radosevic, a native of Honolulu, Hawaii.

C. Emory Glander, a professor of law at Ohio State University and formerly moderator of the radio and television program "Columbus Town Meeting", and Mrs. Glander presented a two-hour program of colored slides entitled, "A Trip to Japan, Hong Kong, Thailand, and Hawaii". Before showing the slides Mr. Glander spoke briefly of the history, location and size of the countries visited this past summer. He stated that the population of Japan now is 95 million which would be comparable to putting one half of the population of the United States in the state of California. He stated a great lesson can be learned from the Japanese who make the most out of the limited land area. The garden grounds surrounding their homes and buildings are beautifully landscaped.

Preceding the program the group sang "America" and repeated the club collect. Mrs. William Snyder led devotions.

Mrs. Stanley Bowers, program chairman, reported that the November meeting will be one week later and will be held at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts with a conducted tour for members attending.

Mrs. James Irwin announced that orders are being taken for pecans and a new shipment is due to arrive shortly.

Other guests attending were Mrs. Charles Stephens and Miss Florence Brown.

Women's News

6 The Circleville Herald, Wed. October 9, 1963 Circleville, Ohio

Dear Abby: It's Fun, but Immodest!

DEAR ABBY: NO NAME PLEASE should join a nudist colony and she'd change her mind about it. Our family joined one three years ago and there is nothing like it. My wife and I are both 29 and our children are 8, 6, and 4. There is much more immorality in view at public beaches, where women try to make their figures look like something they aren't. At a nudist camp nobody cares. And everyone accepts everyone else just be God made them. Fine people belong to nudist camps, Abby. It is good clean fun, like volleyball.

MR. N.
DEAR MR. N.: Your serve! But do you mind if I wear a gym suit?

DEAR ABBY: A line in one of your columns has me puzzled. quote: "Most girls would give their blue garters for a chance to be married in their great grandmother's wedding gown." Where is there a girl who wears, or has, blue garters yet? All the girls I see this time of year wear no stockings at all. Where do "blue garters" fit into the picture for young girls today?

HAPPY BACHELOR
DEAR HAPPY: When a girl marries, she traditionally wears, "Something old Something new Something borrowed Something blue"

The "something blue" is usually a pretty blue garter. (How's that for a snappy answer?)

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "THE OLDEST" hit me hard. I am the oldest in my family, too. Our father died when we were children and I quit school and went to work. I was the sole support of the family at 16. I put my brothers and sisters through school as far as they wanted to go. This was during the depression, and I remember putting cardboard in the soles of my shoes so the younger girls could buy school supplies I did what I did, not because I expected any thanks, but because I loved those kids, and also for Mamma and Daddy. We are all older now, and three of them have made it big. I am comfortable but not considered their social equal, so I am not invited to their homes when they have their grand parties. I wonder how many others were supported and practically raised by their older brothers and sisters, but have never given it a second thought?

THE OLDEST, TOO
CONFIDENTIAL TO "MOTHER OF A DAUGHTER IS A SON": If your letter described your husband accurately, and I have read enough letters to believe it did, you should see a lawyer about separate maintenance. A man, by law, must support his wife and children. To subject your children (and especially a 5-year-old) to such inhuman treatment is criminal. Are you sure he is all there?

Mrs. McCafferty. Large marigold — 1. Mrs. Anderson. 2. Mrs. McCafferty. 3. Mrs. Sheets. French marigold — 1. Mrs. Anderson. 2. Mrs. Sheets.

Mrs. Fleming and Miss Laura Long will appear on a radio program in Washington C. H. 11 a. m. tomorrow. Their topics will be "Garden Plans for the Coming Year and What's New in Roadside Planting."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Fleming assisted by Mrs. John Huffman and Mrs. Kenneth Gossard.

Auxiliary To Meet

The CHS Booster Auxiliary will meet 8 p. m. tomorrow in room 103 at the high school.

Wife Preservers
A little vinegar poured into the pan in which you have sauteed onions will kill the odor. Do it while pan is still hot. This also kills fish odor effectively.

Many vegetable dishes take on extra interest when topped with Romano or Parmesan cheese. You can buy both varieties of cheese already grated, or grate them yourself. Romano is made from sheep's and Parmesan from cow's milk; the latter is usually milder than the former.

WOOL SPECIALIST — "Miss Wool" of America, Cheri Slikker, includes this ensemble in her special traveling wardrobe. It is done in pastel blue tweed, and includes a sleeveless blouse, slender skirt and semi-fitted jacket designed by David Kidd of Arthur Jablow.

Couple Plans To Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Liston, 1916 Doren Ave., Columbus, will serve their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday with open house from 2-5 p. m.

The are the parents of Mrs. Earl (Doris) Shepard and Mrs. John (Evelyn) Beavers, Route 2, Ashville. They have six grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

DAR Lists Program For Tuesday Session

The Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet 2 p. m. Tuesday at Hedges Chapel.

Donald Archer, U. S. Dept. of Soil Conservation, will be guest speaker. Mrs. Sterling Poling, program chairman, will supervise the program.

Hostesses are: Mrs. Harry Speakman, Mrs. Warner Hedges, Mrs. Joseph Peters, Mrs. Judd Dresbach, Miss Florence Brown, Mrs. Martin Cromley, Mrs. T. L. Cromley, Mrs. Arthur Hines, Mrs. William Cromley, Mrs. Jay Hay, Mrs. C. E. Mahaffey, Mrs. Walter Hedges and Mrs. George Gardner.

Boy, 5, Convinced Ball Not Worth It

CINCINNATI (AP) — Stephen Quackman, 5, was sure of one thing today: He won't go into any sewer if ever his play ball falls in again.

He did just that Tuesday, crawling through 2,000 feet of underground main after once falling in an effort to back out of the 18-inch pipe. He lost his pants enroute but finally reached a grating only 150 feet from his home. Freed from his predicament by a suburban life squad Stevie said he didn't "want the old ball anyhow."

Prosecutor Accused of Wiretapping

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan is accused of official wiretapping and eavesdropping in a civil suit filed in Common Pleas Court by two lawyers who are officials of the Civil Liberties Union.

Bernard A. Berkman and Jack C. Day charge in their taxpayer's suit filed Tuesday that the prosecutor held misused public funds for these purposes.

Corrigan said Tuesday night that he would have no comment until he has had a chance to study the petition.

The plaintiffs claim that Corrigan and his investigators have used wiretapping equipment and "electronic eavesdropping devices" in monitoring private homes and the most intimate conversations of private citizens, their families, business associates and guests.

The petition asks that Corrigan be restrained from the alleged practices and from divulging conversations recorded in this way. It also asks that Corrigan be ordered to make an accounting of public funds allegedly spent on the purchase and operation of the equipment.

Berkman, of Cleveland Heights, is vice chairman of the Cleveland chapter of the Civil Liberties Union and Day, of Shaker Heights, is a director of the Ohio CLU.

Toledoans Vote To Elect Own Mayor

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Voters in Toledo have won the right to pick their mayor in the future under a new amendment to the city's charter.

The amendment was approved Tuesday by a better than three to one margin at a primary election in which all nine incumbent councilmen were nominated. Nine other councilman hopefuls also were picked to run on the Nov. 5 ballot.

In unofficial returns from 453 precincts, 14,365 voted for the amendment and 11,313 against.

Passage of the amendment will be elected by the voters instead of City Council as is now the case.

Other provisions of the amendment call for spelling out the city manager's qualifications, election and changing the primary date from October to May.

There was no formal opposition to the proposed charter amendment. Both county Republican and Democratic committees measures failed in the past.

Veteran political observers say the amendment was the outgrowth of a compromise between the Democrats who sought a strong mayor form of government similar to Cleveland's and the Republicans who opposed it on the grounds it might lead to corruption.

Toledo now has a city manager type of government. The city manager, who runs the city, is not elected but appointed by Council.

Both capers and pimiento-stuffed olives make fine garnishes for deviled eggs.

BACK ROOM TALK from THE DEB SHOP

First off we want to congratulate Ann Hoffman. This past week Ann was chosen by the Circleville students to represent them in the Miss Pumpkin Show contest. Ann is a member of The Deb Shop Teen Board and we are all quite proud of her. She will be a lovely Miss Circleville.

We've had more news from the horse's mouth. It seems that when they were nominating candidates from the various home rooms one of the fellas missed being the candidate from his room by two votes. There may be a new Mr. Pumpkin Show in the offing.

We are all very busy these days with Pumpkin Show preparations. The Teen Board is planning a series of live pictures which they will present in front of the shop. We hope you will stop down. The pictures will run every day before and after the afternoon parades.

And speaking of Pumpkin Show we have a new shipment of Thermo-Jac wool plaid slacks with matching hooded windbreakers. They are perfect for parade watching, merry-go-round riding, or cotton candy eating. Come in and try them on.

It's also time to start thinking about winter coats, and we think we have a top selection of high styled cord and suede sporty coats. We hope you'll think so, too.

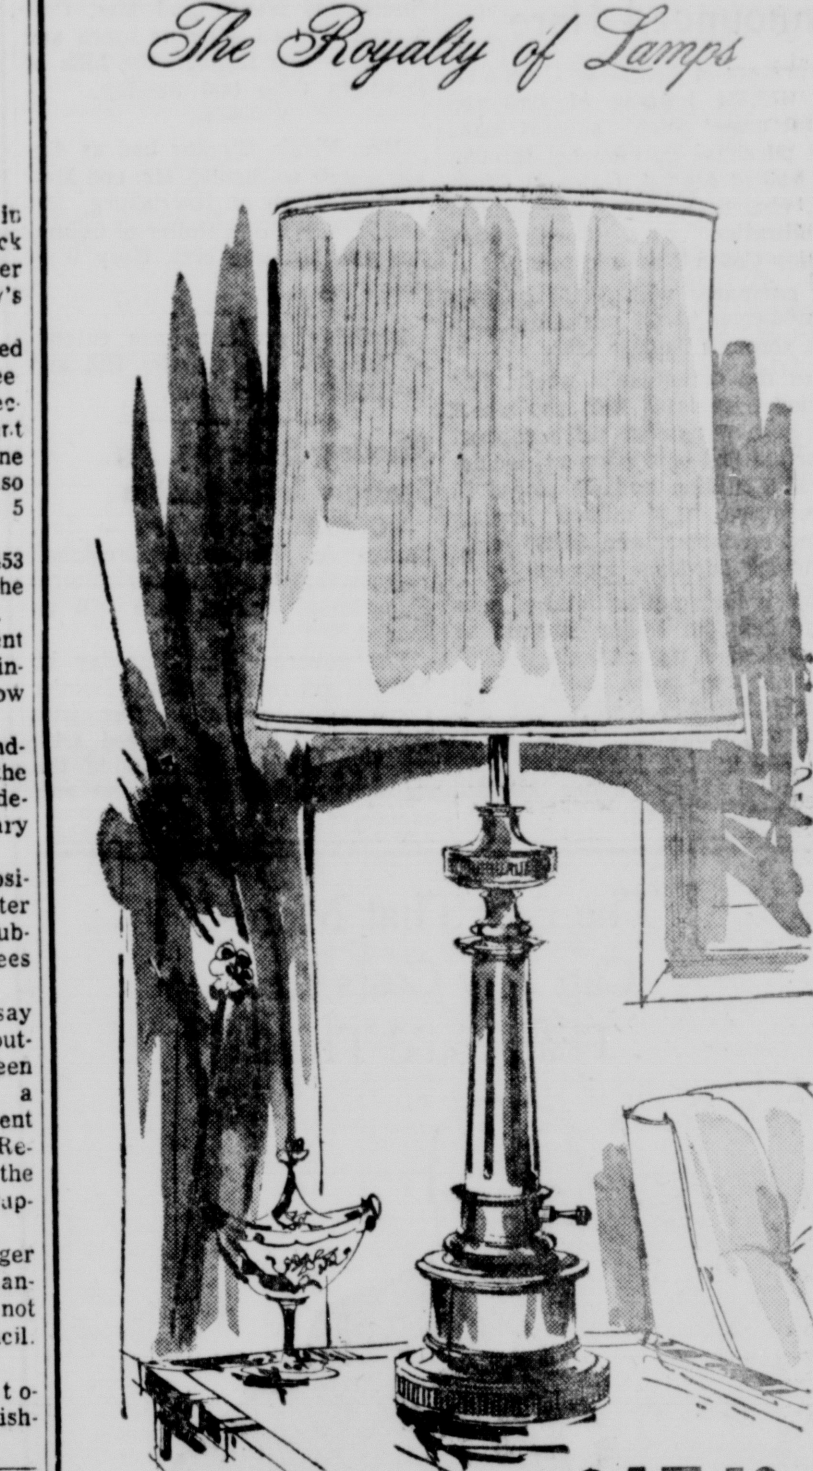

Whether you are looking for a new outfit for Pumpkin Show or for another occasion come in and look around. There is always something new coming in. We'll be looking for you at The Deb Shop. —ad.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

It's Fun, but Immodest!

DEAR ABBY: NO NAME PLEASE should join a nudist colony and she'd change her mind about it. Our family joined one three years ago and there is nothing like it. My wife and I are both 29 and our children are 8, 6, and 4. There is much more immorality in view at public beaches, where women try to make their figures look like something they aren't. At a nudist camp nobody cares. And everyone accepts everyone else just be

God made them. Fine people belong to nudist camps, Abby. It is good clean fun, like volleyball.

MR. N.: DEAR MR. N.: Your serve! But do you mind if I wear a gym suit?

DEAR ABBY: A line in one of your columns has me puzzled. quote: "Most girls would give their blue garters a chance to be married in their great grandmother's wedding gown." Where is there a girl who wears, or has, blue garters yet? All the girls I see this time of year wear no stockings at all. Where do "blue garters" fit into the picture for young girls today?

HAPPY BACHELOR DEAR ABBY: When a girl marries, she traditionally wears, "Something old Something new Something borrowed Something blue"

The "something blue" is usually a pretty blue garter. (How's that for a snappy answer?)

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "THE OLDEST" hit me hard. I am the oldest in my family, too. Our father died when we were children and I quit school and went to work. I was the sole support of the family at 16. I put my brothers and sisters through school as far as they wanted to go. This was during the depression, and I remember putting cardboard in the soles of my shoes so the younger girls could buy school supplies. I did what I did, not because I expected any thanks, but because I loved those kids, and also for Mamma and Daddy. We are all older now, and three of them have made it big. I am comfortable but not considered their social equal, so I am not invited to their homes when they have their grand parties. I wonder how many others were supported and practically raised by their older brothers and sisters, but have never given it a second thought?

THE OLDEST, TOO

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MOTHER OF A DAUGHTER IS A SON": If your letter described your husband accurately, and I have read enough letters to believe it did, you should see a lawyer about separate maintenance. A man, by law, must support his wife and children. To subject your children (and especially a 5-year-old) to such inhuman treatment is criminal. Are you sure he is all there?

Mrs. Fleming and Miss Laura Long will appear on a radio program in Washington C. H. 11 a. m. tomorrow. Their topics will be "Garden Plans for the Coming Year and What's New in Roadside Planting."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Fleming assisted by Mrs. John Huffman and Mrs. Kenneth Gossard.

Auxiliary To Meet

The CHS Booster Auxiliary will meet 8 p. m. tomorrow in room 103 at the high school.

Wife Preservers

A little vinegar poured into the pan in which you have sauteed onions will kill the odor. Do it while pan is still hot. This also kills fish odor effectively.

Many vegetable dishes take on extra interest when topped with Romano or Parmesan cheese. You can buy both varieties of cheese already grated, or grate them yourself. Romano is made from sheep's and Parmesan from cow's milk; the latter is usually milder than the former.

WOOL SPECIALIST — "Miss Wool" of America, Cheri Slikker, includes this ensemble in her special traveling wardrobe. It is done in pastel blue tweed, and includes a sleeveless blouse, slender skirt and semi-fitted jacket designed by David Kidd of Arthur Jablow.

Couple Plans To Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Liston, 1916 Doren Ave., Columbus, will serve their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday with open house from 2-5 p. m.

They are the parents of Mrs. Earl (Doris) Shepard and Mrs. John (Evelyn) Beavers, Route 2, Ashville. They have six grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

DAR Lists Program For Tuesday Session

The Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet 2 p. m. Tuesday at Hedges Chapel.

Donald Archer, U. S. Dept. of Soil Conservation, will be guest speaker. Mrs. Sterling Poling, program chairman, will supervise the program.

Hostesses are: Mrs. Harry Speakman, Mrs. Warner Hedges, Mrs. Joseph Peters, Mrs. Judd Dresbach, Miss Florence Brown, Mrs. Martin Cromley, Mrs. T. L. Cromley, Mrs. Arthur Hines, Mrs. William Cromley, Mrs. Jay Hay, Mrs. C. E. Mahaffey, Mrs. Walter Hedges and Mrs. George Gardner.

Boy, 5, Convinced Ball Not Worth It

CINCINNATI (AP) — Stephen Quickerman, 5, was sure of one thing today: He won't go into any sewer if ever his play ball falls in again.

He did just that Tuesday, crawling through 2,000 feet of underground main after once falling in an effort to back out of the 18-inch pipe. He lost his pants enroute but finally reached a grating only 150 feet from his home. Freed from his predicament by a suburban life squad Stevie said he didn't "want the old ball anyhow."

Prosecutor Accused of Wiretapping

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan is accused of official wiretapping and eavesdropping in a civil suit filed in Common Pleas Court by two lawyers who are officials of the Civil Liberties Union.

Bernard A. Berkman and Jack C. Day charge in their taxpayer's suit filed Tuesday that the prosecutor held misused public funds for these purposes.

Corrigan said Tuesday night that he would have no comment until he had a chance to study the petition.

The plaintiffs claim that Corrigan and his investigators have used wiretapping equipment and "electronic eavesdropping devices" in monitoring private homes and the most intimate conversations of private citizens, their families, business associates and guests.

The petition asks that Corrigan be restrained from the alleged practices and from divulging conversations recorded in this way. It also asks that Corrigan be ordered to make an accounting of public funds allegedly spent on the purchase and operation of the equipment.

Berkman, of Cleveland Heights, is vice chairman of the Cleveland chapter of the Civil Liberties Union and Day, of Shaker Heights, is a director of the Ohio CLU.

Toledoans Vote To Elect Own Mayor

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Voters in Toledo have won the right to pick their mayor in the future under a new amendment to the city's charter.

The amendment was approved Tuesday by a better than three to one margin at a primary election in which all nine incumbent councilmen were nominated. Nine other councilman hopefuls also were picked to run on the Nov. 5 ballot.

In unofficial returns from 453 precincts, 11,365 voted for the amendment and 11,313 against.

Passage of the amendment will be elected by the voters instead of City Council as is now the case.

Other provisions of the amendment call for spelling out the city manager's qualifications, deletion and changing the primary date from October to May.

There was no formal opposition to the proposed charter amendment. Both county Republican and Democratic committees measures failed in the past.

Veteran political observers say the amendment was the outgrowth of a compromise between the Democrats who sought a strong mayor form of government similar to Cleveland's and the Republicans who opposed it on the grounds it might lead to corruption.

Toledo now has a city manager type of government. The city manager, who runs the city, is not elected but appointed by Council.

First off we want to congratulate Ann Hoffman. This past week Ann was chosen by the Circleville students to represent them in the Miss Pumpkin Show contest. Ann is a member of The Deb Shop Teen Board and we are all quite proud of her. She will be a lovely Miss Circleville.

We've had more news from the horse's mouth. It seems that when they were nominating candidates from the various home rooms one of the fellas missed being the candidate from his room by two votes. There may be a new Mr. Pumpkin Show in the offing.

We are all very busy these days with Pumpkin Show preparations. The Teen Board is planning a series of live pictures which they will present in front of the shop. We hope you will stop down. The pictures will run every day before and after the afternoon parade.

And speaking of Pumpkin Show we have a new shipment of Thermo Jac wool plaid slacks with matching hooded windbreakers. They are perfect for parade watching, merry-go-round riding, or cotton candy eating. Come in and try them on.

It's also time to start thinking about winter coats, and we think we have a top selection of high styled cord and suede sportive coats. We hope you'll think so, too.

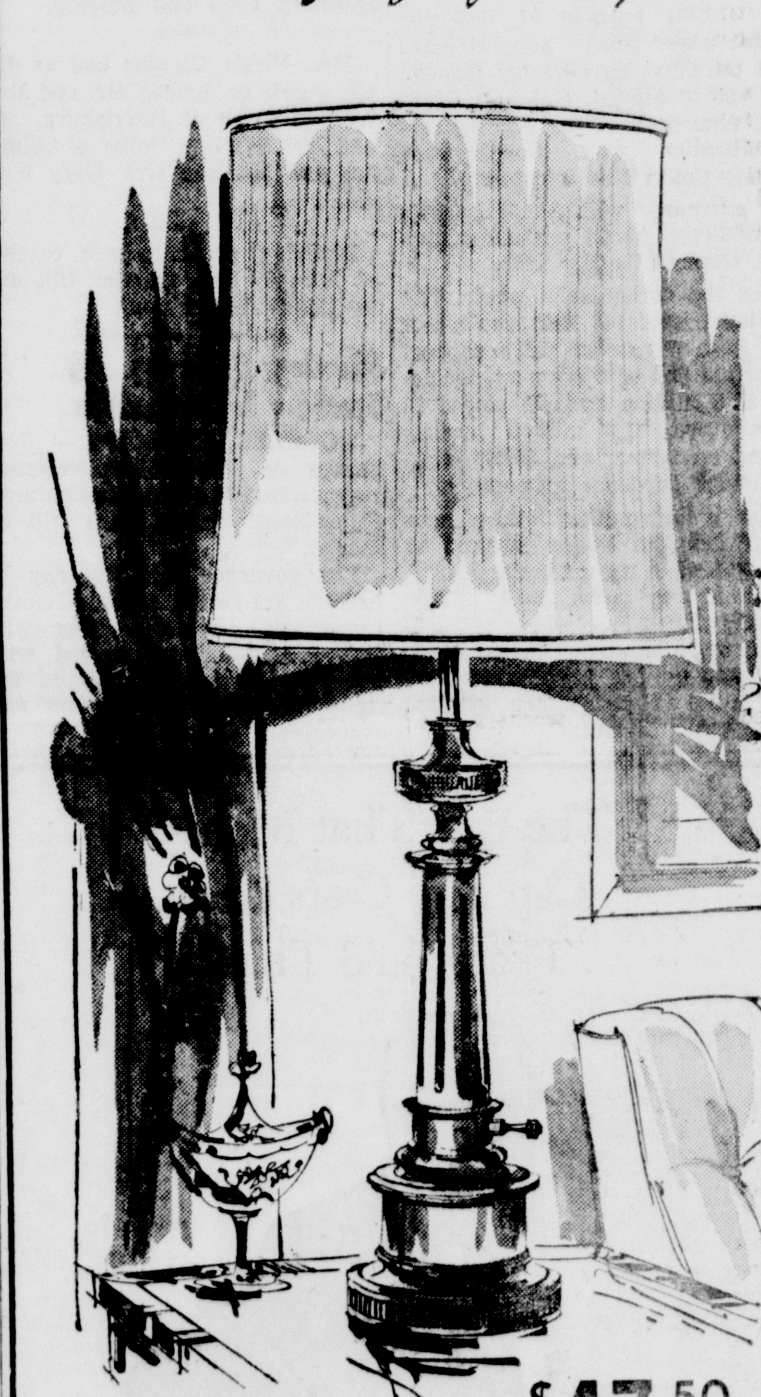

Whether you are looking for a new outfit for Pumpkin Show or for another occasion come in and look around. There is always something new coming in. We'll be looking for you at The Deb Shop.

WHAT?—Jolted passersby stare at a sign in front of a parking garage in the Loop in Chicago.

Mormon Data Is Stored in Marble Cells

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—High on a canyon wall about 20 miles southeast of here a series of portals jut from the granite rock, pinpointing the location of one of the world's most impregnable storage vaults.

It is there that the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) has gouged a maze of under-rock caverns designed to safeguard the millions of dollar worth of its genealogical records.

Called the Little Cottonwood Project—after the canyon where it is located—the network of tunnels and vaults cost the church more than $1.5 million.

The tunnels include three 600-foot-long storage vaults which have been lined with 1½ feet of concrete and heavy corrugated steel. Three large bank vault doors have been installed for added security. The three main passages will be intersected by three others more than 400 feet long.

Destined for storage in the vaults at controlled temperatures and humidity are more than 500 million microfilmed pages of genealogical records.

The church places considerable weight on the eternal nature of the family relationship. If a Mormon fully obeys the teachings of his faith, he may enter into a marriage covenant that not only lasts until "death do us part," but continues on "for time and eternity."

Mormon doctrine states that members' ancestors who died before the religion was revealed in the early 1800s may be baptized by proxy as the first step in their acceptance into the faith. But the living must gather the necessary vital statistics concerning their kin. Thus, the emphasis on genealogical research and record keeping.

In recent years, the church's record-gathering chore has been facilitated through a cooperating program with thousands of archivists and priests in foreign countries. The Mormons maintain a number of microfilming teams abroad and in the United States. These teams, where permitted, search records or any lead that could uncover information on births, marriages, or deaths. The records are microfilmed and the film shipped to Salt Lake City.

Because of the zeal of thousands of dedicated church workers, the church genealogical library now includes more than 1,700,000 microfilmed volumes.

More than 500,000,000 pages have been microfilmed.

Lowly Hotdog Is Favorite On Turnpike

CLEVELAND (AP) — The hotdog and the hamburger appear to have survived an experiment to displace them with full meals prepared from frozen foods and dispensed at vending machines in interstate highway service stations.

Stouffer Foods Corp. and the Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) said they have concluded a test of serving the full meals at eight interstate highway service station locations.

Results of the experiment have convinced Sohio that the motorist wants speed and price, and that hotdogs and hamburgers are the preferred items. Apparently full meals on a self-serve basis do not have much appeal. J. D. Harnett, vice president of marketing for the oil company said.

Vernon Stouffer, president of Stouffer Foods, said that "under such circumstances Stouffer's can not project its own complete 'image' as it does when it has full control of service and surroundings."

The World Today

By J. W. DAVIS
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will star again this afternoon in a popular television show, his White House news conference.

It's a show that works well for him and his administration as the saying goes.

And since the President is such a skillful politician, the question arises: Why is Congress so camera shy? Its image could stand a little polishing.

Let it be noted here that individual members of Congress don't dodge the photographers. They are always glad to be in a picture for the folks back home. Still photographers are welcome at committee meetings.

But in the mass it's different, there never had been an officially permitted picture of the Senate in action until last month. The House won't allow its picture to be taken except when members are being sworn in at the start of a session, or when there is a formal joint session with the Senate.

The Senate does permit television cameras to film committee proceedings, as in the case of the crime hearings starring gangster Joseph Valachi. The House won't even let television into a committee room.

There are two main reasons why the Senate and House bar photographers from their floors and galleries.

First, it would seriously embarrass either body to have pictures go out showing only a handful of members on the floor when an important bill is up. That happens quite regularly.

Second, there is a fear that some members would ham things up if they knew they were being photographed. That's the first reason you hear in the House with regard to televising committee hearings—and those who cite it point to Senate television shows as cause for their apprehension. The official picture the Senate sat for in September was allowed because it was intended primarily for a Capitol guide book, a companion to the popular White House guide established by Jacqueline Kennedy.

It wasn't much of a picture as group pictures go. It was taken from a back angle and from such a distance that individual faces couldn't be made out.

15-FOOTER—John Kacmarinski of Mallard, Ia., displays a 15-foot stalk of Mexican variety corn in Fort Dodge, Ia. Arrow points to two ears. Modern hybrids aren't grown as high as formerly, but he grew this one as an experiment.

Thirty-odd years ago an unofficial picture of the Senate was snapped through a side door by a magazine photographer. It didn't show much either.

There's no doubt there has been some sneaky picture taking from the public all—although doorkeepers guard against letting anybody take cameras inside.

It was quite a jar to the tradition-minded when the Senate bent its rules last month.

But Calvin Coolidge, who used to preside over the Senate as vice president, wouldn't have been surprised at all.

He once related: "I soon found that the Senate had but one fixed rule, subject to exceptions of course, which was to the effect that the Senate would do anything it wanted to whenever it wanted to do it."

Here's dollar-saving news for home owners plagued with the problem of keeping paint on stucco, concrete, cinder block, asbestos-cement shingles, brick, stone—even basement walls.

New Dean & Barry Colonial masonry paint made with Goodyear's Pliolite S-5 keeps homes looking their attractive best up to 5 full years. Pliolite S-5 is the synthetic rubber resin that allows masonry surfaces to actually breathe. Inside vapors, the big cause of blistering and peeling, can get out—but rain and weather can't get in. Neither dampness nor alkalies can hurt it. Beautiful non-fading colors. One coat usually does the job. One gallon covers up to 300 sq. ft. for extra economy. See us for the Dean & Barry masonry paint that lasts and lasts—or have your painter decorator come in. Do it soon.

DUCK FEAT—It takes a flutter and a hop, but the ducklings are able to take giant steps right along with mama in this duck feat in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Parents Know 4th, 5th Of Children To Die Soon

STERLING, N.D. (AP)—“You know they're going to go, but still it hits you hard when they do.”

Mrs. William Patterson was talking about two of her children—Richard, 9, and Betty Ann, 6.

They are bright, handsome youngsters. But the chances are they will not live much longer.

Richard and Betty Ann are victims of muco viscidosis, sometimes called cystic fibrosis. It's incurable despite all the efforts of medical science.

The Pattersons, who live on a farm eight miles northeast of this little town in southern North Dakota, know quite a lot about muco viscidosis.

The same disease already has taken the lives of three Patterson children. Virginia died a year ago at the age of 7, Judy died eight years ago when she was nearly 4 and Donna Mae died 17 years ago at only 2 months.

Two others in the family—Lee Roy, 12, and William Jr., 15, have slight touches of the dread sickness but evidently are not seriously afflicted.

There has been no sign of it in the other three Patterson children—twins Donald and David, 19, and Janice, 16.

Doctors say muco viscidosis is congenital and is passed on by parents. Glands of the lungs and pancreas produce abnormal amounts of thick mucus, clogging the vital organs and leading to infection.

Both Richard and Betty Ann are familiar figures at St. Alexius Hospital in nearby Bismarck where they take oxygen twice a week and are confined for frequent bouts with pneumonia.

Cold weather is dangerous for the youngsters, so they take their school lessons at home and stay in the house most of the winter. The family is not well off, and the state welfare department has helped them with expenses.

But the Pattersons are not ones for complaining.

“We're so thankful that the disease does not affect the children's minds and that our other children have been very healthy,” said Mrs. Patterson.

And Richard, at least, knows what is coming.

“Yup,” he chirped, “I'm living on borrowed time.”

Little Hoover Irks Toledo

Public Welfare Idea Sharply Criticized

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Toledo and Lucas County officials have sharply criticized recommendations made by Ohio's Little Hoover commission in the area of public welfare.

“The welfare report (announced Monday, has thoroughly discredited the Hoover commission,” Ned Skeldon, president of the Lucas County commissioners, charged.

Commissioner Andy Devine called the report another instance of the state trying to save money for itself at the expense of Ohio's largest counties.

The chief source of irritation seemed to be a calling for a reduction in the state's contribution to the respective county welfare programs.

According to the report, counties administered 61 per cent of total welfare funds but provided only 13 per cent of such funds. It suggested that the state pay the public utilities tax into a rotary fund that would be used to assist poorer counties.

The question here seemed to be whether “poorer counties” meant those which perennially have a low source of revenue or the larger metropolitan counties which have high welfare costs.

Mayor John Potter said if the commission is recommending that large counties in Ohio receive a greater share of state aid he would support their report. However, he said if the opposite is true he should attempt to convince state officials that aid to urban counties should be increased.

He said 66 Ohio counties pay nothing from their general funds to support welfare programs while Toledo alone will spend $1.7 million of its own funds for poor relief this year.

Smoked Fish Check Being Made in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Agriculture Director John M. Stackhouse says department inspectors are checking throughout the state for possible stocks of smoked fish in vacuum sealed plastic bags at wholesale or retail stores.

Stackhouse ordered the search after two persons died in Tennessee from botulism—a form of poisoning—allegedly caused by consumption of smoked fish packed in plastic bags by a Michigan fishery.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Clear weather and cool temperatures dominated Ohio's weather picture at daybreak today. Two exceptions were the Chesapeake and Marietta areas, where dense fog formed along the Ohio River, restricting visibilities to zero.

Temperatures around the state early today were in the high 30s and low 40s, with Toledo, Youngstown and Zanesville sharing the honor for the coolest with readings of 38. Mansfield was highest with 48. Other temperatures were Columbus 39, Chesapeake 45 and Akron 45.

The morning weather map had a high pressure over the Great Lakes region. This will dominate Ohio's weather through Thursday. A cold front was located across the southeastern tier of states into a low in Eastern Kansas.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS
SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average four to eight degrees above normal. Normal high 68-75, normal low 44-49. Warming trend, continued dry through weekend.

NORTHERN OHIO—Temperatures will average two to four degrees above normal. Normal high 63-66, normal low 42-48. Cool nights and increasingly warm days through Friday, daytime temperatures near normal but mild nights over weekend, another warming trend early next week. Rainfall will average less than one-tenth inch as widely scattered showers Saturday.

Own Conflicts Affect Asians

EDITORS NOTE—Reporter William L. Ryan has covered news all over the world, from Moscow to Chile to Singapore. He is a specialist in Communist affairs and the way nations react to the Communist effort to gain converts. Now he is back in Asia, talking to people across the political spectrum from extreme right to extreme left, and from the top to the bottom of the ladder.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Asia is severely shaken today by its own conflicts and by radical changes in the cold war picture. These changes are a potent yeast in the ferment which is engulfing the whole vast, over-peopled, and impatient continent.

"This is a most critical moment for Asia," said one highly placed informant. "You might say this whole area now is up for grabs."

It seems probable that a long hard struggle is ahead to prevent the whole continent from falling one day under Communist domination.

The most significant development for Asia in the past decade has been the violent quarrel between the Communist parties of the Soviet Union and Red China.

Yet there are also clear indications that the Chinese-Soviet split is being overstressed to an extent that can lead to dangerous consequences.

To Indians, the split seems to have become a question as simple as black and white: The Chinese have become all bad—therefore those who seem to oppose the Red Chinese must be the reverse. This includes the Soviet party and its followers.

Even in Southeast Asia circles closely connected with the United States and the West one can detect a superabundance of optimism. This seems based on the notion that the Red Chinese have lost the implicit support of the Russians, should Peking think in terms of embarking on reckless adventures. But Peking always has had the long view of domination in Asia by slow stages, despite its defiance of nuclear "paper tigers."

The more cautious element in Southeast Asia makes allowance for the possibility of events—a showdown crisis in which Moscow may have to stand up and be counted, or a change of leadership either in Peking or Moscow—which could cause the Russians and Chinese to close ranks.

Although the world's attention was diverted by the Cuban missile crisis last October, Red China's attack at that time on India's frontiers was an event of enormous cold war significance.

India turned in virtual panic to the United States for military help. It got aid, under the U.S.-British Nassau agreement, but this tended to damage Nehru's standing as the Asian leader of Pakistan.

The Indians are getting arms, ammunition and technical assistance for their armed forces. They wanted a bit more. The Indians hinted broadly that they wanted Nike-Zeus ground-to-air missile for defensive purposes around the big Indian cities.

The United States did not take the hint. Possibly the reaction in Pakistan, which constantly expresses fear of the Indians, played a part. The Indians, who claim they have always turned first to the United States, now are looking to Moscow. There is a good chance that Russian ground-to-air missiles eventually will be protecting Indian cities against the Red Chinese.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 9 the 282nd day of 1963. There are 83 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1866 the first outdoor trial of the telephone, and the first reciprocal conversation, was held over a private line between Boston and Cambridge, Mass.

On this date: In 1642, Harvard College held its first commencement exercises. In 1701, Yale College at New Haven, Conn., was formally chartered.

In 1871, the great Chicago Fire began and took 250 lives; on the same date, a forest fire destroyed Peshtigo, Wis., with 1,152 persons killed.

In 1934, King Alexander I of Yugoslavia was assassinated in Marseilles, France, by a Croat student.

In 1944, details of the Dumbarton Oaks plan for world security were made public.

Ten years ago... Florence Chadwick of California swam the Hellespont in the Turkish Dardanelles in both directions.

Five years ago... Pope Pius XII died at the age of 82.

One year ago... Forty persons were killed when an express train rammed into a derailed train 90 miles southwest of Warsaw, Poland.

Strange Semi-Isolation Maintained for Quints

ABERDEEN, S. D., (AP)—Some three weeks after the Fischer quintuplets were born, a sun-burned farmer hailed an acquaintance in Aberdeen:

"Say, where's St. Luke's Hospital? Think I'll go over and see the quints."

He was back in no time, surprise on his weathered features. "They won't let you in," he complained.

Natives of this South Dakota prairie city could have saved him the trouble.

They know the four girls and a boy, growing stronger daily, are off limits. They have adopted a live-and-let-live policy toward Andy and Mary Ann Fischer the quints' parents. The Fischers operate in a strange semi-isolation while they carry out their contract for exclusive magazine and television rights to details of their story. Andy has been too busy to return to his $80-a-week job as a shipping clerk.

Aberdeen seems uncertain of how to proceed. Increased business, tourist and otherwise, which the quints are certain to draw, is tempting. But few persons would want it, or admit to wanting it. At the expense of the five's welfare or reasonable privacy.

It appears the quints will go home, when their doctor permits, to a weathered nine-room farmhouse. Its stucco sides are faded but it sports a bright blue shingle roof.

No guard is posted to keep away the curious, but few stop. Those who do are turned away politely.

At the hospital, two miles to the southeast, the atmosphere is not so casual.

An armed guard, equipped with a mirror that lets him see around a corner and down another hall, is on duty 24 hours a day a few feet from the nursery where the quints gain weight daily. Each must weigh about 5½ pounds before being allowed to go home.

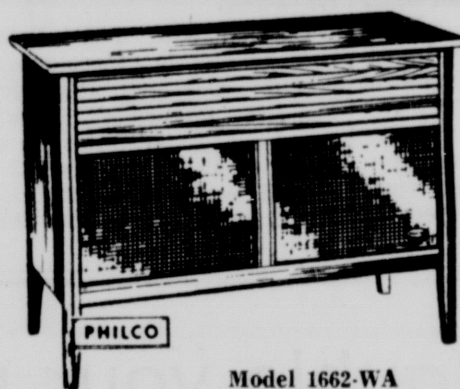

If you're the properly-identified parent of a new baby, you'll get by him, for the quints share St. Luke's only nursery with other babies.

But if you aren't, you must have pretty special credentials to stand at the nursery window and watch the five healthy babies lying on pink blankets in their individual incubators.

Own Conflicts Affect Asians

EDITORS NOTE—Reporter William L. Ryan has covered news all over the world, from Moscow to Chile to Singapore. He is a specialist in Communist affairs and the way nations react to the Communist effort to gain converts. Now he is back in Asia, talking to people across the political spectrum from extreme right to extreme left, and from the top to the bottom of the ladder.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Asia is severely shaken today by its own conflicts and by radical changes in the cold war picture. These changes are a potent yeast in the ferment which is engulfing the whole vast, over-peopled, and impatient continent.

"This is a most critical moment for Asia," said one highly placed informant. "You might say this whole area now is up for grabs."

It seems probable that a long hard struggle is ahead to prevent the whole continent from falling one day under Communist domination.

The most significant development for Asia in the past decade has been the violent quarrel between the Communist parties of the Soviet Union and Red China.

Yet there are also clear indications that the Chinese-Soviet split is being overstressed to an extent that can lead to dangerous consequences.

To Indians, the split seems to have become a question as simple as black and white: The Chinese have become all bad—therefore those who seem to oppose the Red Chinese must be the reverse. This includes the Soviet party and its followers.

Even in Southeast Asia circles closely connected with the United States and the West one can detect a superabundance of optimism. This seems based on the notion that the Red Chinese have lost the implicit support of the Russians, should Peking think in terms of embarking on reckless adventures. But Peking always has had the long view of domination in Asia by slow stages, despite its defiance of nuclear "paper tigers."

The more cautious element in Southeast Asia makes allowance for the possibility of events—a showdown crisis in which Moscow may have to stand up and be counted, or a change of leadership either in Peking or Moscow—which could cause the Russians and Chinese to close ranks.

Although the world's attention was diverted by the Cuban missile crisis last October, Red China's attack at that time on India's frontiers was an event of enormous cold war significance.

India turned in virtual panic to the United States for military help. It got aid, under the U.S.-British Nassau agreement, but this tended to damage Nehru's standing as the Asian leader of Pakistan.

The Indians are getting arms, ammunition and technical assistance for their armed forces. They wanted a bit more. The Indians hinted broadly that they wanted Nike-Zeus ground-to-air missile for defensive purposes around the big Indian cities.

The United States did not take the hint. Possibly the reaction in Pakistan, which constantly expresses fear of the Indians, played a part. The Indians, who claim they have always turned first to the United States, now are looking to Moscow. There is a good chance that Russian ground-to-air missiles eventually will be protecting Indian cities against the Red Chinese.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 9 the 282nd day of 1963. There are 83 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1866 the first outdoor trial of the telephone, and the first reciprocal conversation, was held over a private line between Boston and Cambridge, Mass.

On this date:

In 1642, Harvard College held its first commencement exercises.

In 1701, Yale College at New Haven, Conn., was formally chartered.

In 1871, the great Chicago Fire began and took 250 lives; on the same date, a forest fire destroyed Peshtigo, Wis., with 1,152 persons killed.

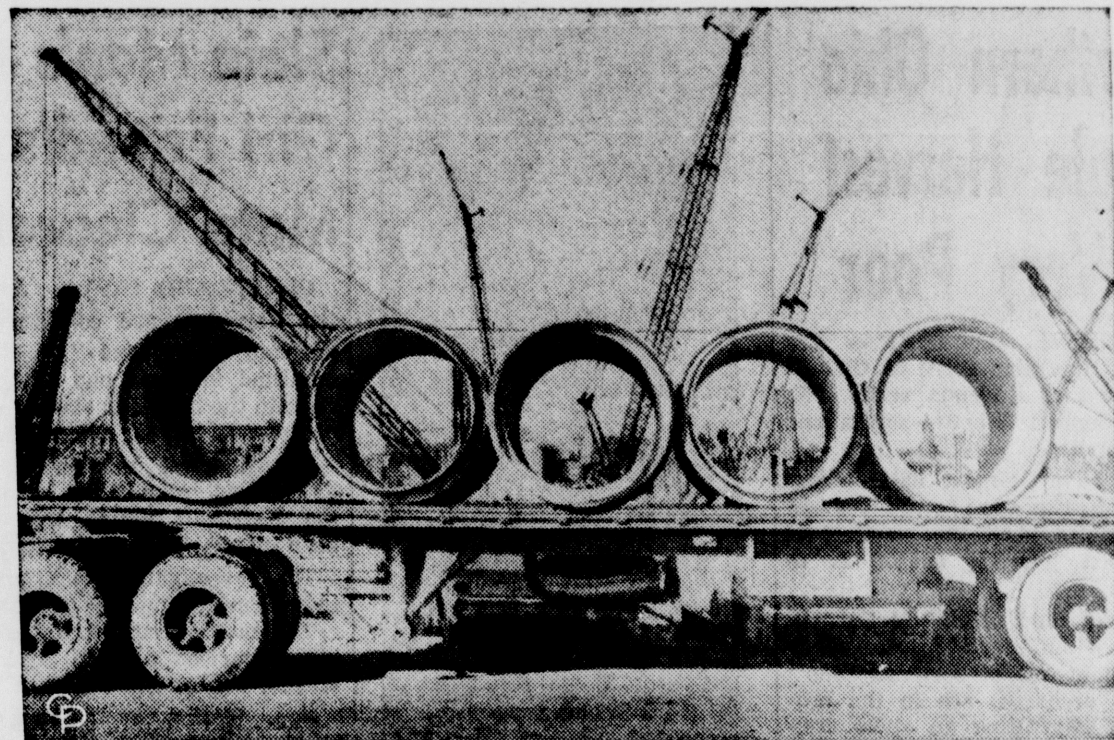

In 1934, King Alexander I of Yugoslavia was assassinated in Marseilles, France, by a Croat student.

In 1944, details of the Dumbarton Oaks plan for world security were made public.

Ten years ago... Florence Chadwick of California swam the Hellespont in the Turkish Dardanelles in both directions.

Five years ago... Pope Pius XII died at the age of 82.

One year ago... Forty persons were killed when an express train rammed into a derailed train 90 miles southwest of Warsaw, Poland.

Strange Semi-Isolation Maintained for Quints

ABERDEEN, S. D., (AP)—Some three weeks after the Fischer quintuplets were born, a sun-burned farmer hailed an acquaintance in Aberdeen: "Say, where's St. Luke's Hospital? Think I'll go over and see the quints."

He was back in no time, surprised on his weathered features. "They won't let you in," he complained.

Natives of this South Dakota prairie city could have saved him the trouble.

They know the four girls and a boy, growing stronger daily, are off limits. They have adopted a live-and-let-live policy toward Andy and Mary Ann Fischer the quints' parents. The Fischers operate in a strange semi-isolation while they carry out their contract for exclusive magazine and television rights to details of their story. Andy has been too busy to return to his $80-a-week job as a shipping clerk.

Aberdeen seems uncertain of how to proceed. Increased business, tourist and otherwise, which the quints are certain to draw, is tempting. But few persons would want it, or admit to wanting it. At the expense of the five's welfare or reasonable privacy.

It appears the quints will go home, when their doctor permits, to a weathered nine-room farmhouse. Its stucco sides are faded but it sports a bright blue shingle roof.

No guard is posted to keep away the curious, but few stop. Those who do are turned away politely.

At the hospital, two miles to the southeast, the atmosphere is not so casual.

a mirror that lets him see around a corner and down another hall, is on duty 24 hours a day a few feet from the nursery where the quints gain weight daily. Each must weigh about 5½ pounds before being allowed to go home.

If you're the properly-identified parent of a new baby, you'll get by him, for the quints share St. Luke's only nursery with other babies.

But if you aren't, you must have pretty special credentials to stand at the nursery window and watch the five healthy babies lying on pink blankets in their individual incubators.

ARE YOU LISTENIN'—Called the first new trend in automotive radio antenna styling in 30 years, this little (only a few inches tall) antenna was invented by a newspaper photographer Arthur H. Bickelhaupt, Forestia, O. He says it has nearly twice the reception of standard antennas.

Change Urged In Operation Of Big PUCO

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Public Utilities Commission has lived alone long enough, the businessmen studying state government say. They suggest taking in tenants and making new house-keeping arrangements.

One of the few state agencies known almost as well by its initials (PUCO) as by its full name (Public Utilities Commission of Ohio), the commission occupies a remodeled five-and-a-half store in downtown Columbus.

In fact, the Little Hoover Commission—the collective nickname for the 88 business executive-volunteers brought in to look over state government—thinks it takes up too much space. It recommends microfilming records more than two years old, throwing out some others, and sub-letting space saved in the basement to other state departments.

As for housekeeping it recommends the same thing for the PUCO and Department of Insurance: Make each a division of the State Department of Commerce, functionally responsible but not physically combined.

Ohio had a commissioner of railroads and telegraphs 96 years ago, but it wasn't until a state law became effective 50 years and 2 months ago today that the quasi-judicial body known as the PUCO came into being.

The three commissioners act on appeals when electric, natural gas, heating and water company rates can't be worked out locally and has original jurisdiction over telephone, telegraph, railroad pipeline and motor transportation rates. It also investigates complaints.

A lot of activities that result in duplication of effort could be cut out as well as quite a bit of paperwork, the Little Hoover Commission contends, and investigation of bus accidents should be left to the Highway Patrol.

Savings could add up to $142,000 or more, the commission says. Utility companies and common carriers are assessed to pay for PUCO operations.

Both the PUCO and the Insurance Department could work out well in the State Commerce Department, it's suggested, because both are regulatory like many other divisions of that department (banks, securities, etc.). Insurance was part of the Commerce Department until 1957.

About $45,000, and perhaps more, could be saved in the insurance operation, the commission says. Its other recommendations in this area include an administrative tightening-up and abolishing the Insurance Advisory Committee.

Nixon Hopes Civil Rights Issue Out

CLEVELAND (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said here Tuesday night he hopes civil rights will not be an issue in the 1964 presidential campaign and promised to argue against any Republican Party move to make it one.

If next year's presidential contest "turns out to be North against South or blacks against whites, it will be a most unfortunate thing for the nation," he declared, and "disastrous to this country abroad."

"It is important for the Republican Party particularly not to play politics with this issue," Nixon said.

Talking of the coming presidential campaign, Nixon said any one of five Republicans are potential candidates and of them Sen. Barry Goldwater "is the most likely at the present time," Govs. Rockefeller of New York, Romney of Michigan and Scranton of Pennsylvania and Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky were the others on Nixon's list.

He mentioned only one possible vice presidential candidate Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes. Rhodes, he said, isn't known too well outside Ohio, but his state fiscal program is "one of the best in the country—and that should look awfully good in 1964."

Ohio Firm Receives Plastic Pipe Order

AURORA, Ohio (AP) — Carlon Products Corp. here has announced receipt of an order for 1 million feet of plastic conduit for use in development of the Merritt Island, Fla., support area for the Nova lunar landing project. Value of the order was reported to be about $250,000.

The company said the conduit will be produced at Carlon's High Springs, Fla., plant and the raw materials and fittings will be turned out at the main plant in Aurora.

The Ashville-Harrison Volunteer Fire Department is distributing tickets for its annual Firemen's Spaghetti Supper to be held Nov. 14 at the Teays Valley High School.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bastian enjoyed a scenic train tour Sunday.

Protection Seen Vital for Valachi

CLEVELAND (AP) — A retired New York crime investigator says underworld informer Joseph Valachi must live, even behind bars or nobody ever again will inform on the Mafia.

Former Asst. Chief Inspector Raymond B. Martin said in a television appearance Tuesday that he believes Valachi is telling the truth in his appearances before a Senate Crime Investigating Committee. The underworld is said to have posted a $100,000 reward for the murder of Valachi.

to Gallopis and returned home by the way of the Hocking Hills. More than 700 persons participated in the tour.

A surprise birthday party was held Monday evening for Mrs. Nelson Warner in the home of Mrs. Bud Glitt. The group enjoyed cards. Attending were Mrs. Nolo Gulick, Mrs. Harvey Roby, Jr., Miss Mary Ellen Downs, Mrs. Don Welsh, Miss Ruby Miller, Miss Nancy Sampson and the honored guest and host.

Mrs. Don Welsh and Miss Nancy Sampson recently completed a one day a week, five-week course in hair coloring and permanent waving at the L'Oreal Clinic, sponsored by the Capital Beauty Supply. Modeling for Mrs. Welsh was Mrs. Robert Sliwinski and for Miss Sampson, Rosemary Runkle.

Mrs. Welsh attended the "Beauty Spectacular" sponsored by Sommer, Inc. at the Chittenden Hotel in Columbus. Continuous demonstrations by outstanding stylists were given in permanent waving, coloring, hair cutting, styling and make-up and manicuring.

Mrs. Welsh, Miss Sampson and Mrs. Bud Glitt attended the Estelle Devlin Show at the Southern Hotel where private classes were conducted on hairstyling. This also was sponsored by the Capital Beauty School.

Northern Ohio Apple Harvest Is Very Poor

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — The sign at the farm drive on Ohio 14 southeast of Ravenna reads, "E. S. McConnell & Sons—apples and peaches."

The advertisement is an exaggeration. There are no peaches and few apples. And the weather of the past growing season is to blame.

Mason and Phil McConnell, brothers and partners with their mother in one of northern Ohio's largest orchards, are in the process of harvesting an apple crop 10 per cent of normal.

Some orchards are doing better others were wiped out completely; the over-all picture adds up to Ohio's poorest fruit year on record.

Trouble started with the January freeze that utterly wiped out the peach crop of about 5,000 bushels and fatally injured about 2,000 mature trees. Exactly four months later, the McConnells awoke to the sight of the late May frost that blasted a heavy crop of humpback-sized apples.

"That's what wrecked us," said Mason McConnell. "We were reconciled to no peaches. Then came the worst May frost that I ever saw in a single night."

"It cut us from 50,000 to 5,000 bushels of apples. The Delicious were practically wiped out."

The surviving fruits struggled to maturity through one of the severest droughts on record. "I don't know how much rain we had this summer, but I know we had one inch in the last 50 days, when we needed it most to size fruit," McConnell said. "This was the fourth dry year in a row, and the effects are beginning to accumulate."

"It has come to be a calamity. We've got to irrigate or quit. I never figured irrigation would pay, but we've got no choice."

The irrigation system is planned for operation next summer in part of the 183-acre planting.

Apple fanciers will not suffer unduly from weather's low blows. Retail prices are 50 cents to $1 a bushel over last year.

The McConnells will go into winter storage with 3,500 bushels in coolers built for 26,000.

Lima Man Is Held In Fatal Shooting

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Police held Walter Cole, 21, of Lima in the fatal shooting Tuesday night of another Lima man. He was not charged immediately.

Police said witnesses told them Cole argued with the victim, Wallace Clayborn, 36, of a Lima street, then shot him in the neck. Clayborn died a few hours later.

The victim's wife, Wilma Mae, was beaten over the head during the argument but police said they do not know by whom. She was hospitalized with serious head wounds.

5 Ohio FFA Boys Hurt in Mishap

KANSAS CITY (AAP) — Five Ohio delegates to the Future Farmers of America convention in Kansas City were injured Tuesday in a car-truck collision on Interstate 70 near Odessa, Mo.

The FFA delegates, all of whom suffered burns about the face and arms are Paul Schlotterback, 55, a school teacher from Deshler, Ohio, who was driving the car; Jerry Meyer, 16, Hamler, Ohio; James Kossow, 16, Hamler; James Dietrick, 17, New Bavaria, Ohio, and Dennis Schierebert, 17, of Leipsic, Ohio.

"STAR CROSSED LOVERS"—Soviet cosmonauts Valentina Tereshkova, 26, first woman in space, and Andrian Nikolayev, 33, are in orbit over each other and will wed soon, say reports from Moscow. "The Star Crossed Lovers," they're called.

Hamilton Jail Escapees Are Sought

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Four men escaped Butler County Jail two at a time some 24 hours apart investigators believed today as police of three states sought trace of the quartet.

Sheriff James F. Nixon identified the four as Howard Withers, 35, of Hamilton; Dewey Alexander Jr., 23, of Franklin; George Brown 27, of Middletown, and Delmar Day Jr., 29, of nearby Trenton.

Withers was ordered committed to Lima State Hospital for observation last Thursday.

Sheriff Nixon said the escapes were detected about 5:30 p.m. Tuesday when a parole officer visited the jail to talk to one of the men. He failed to answer a summons. Check of cell quarters disclosed four men missing and bars sawed in an area leading from a shower room to an outer cell block.

A three-state alarm was broadcast immediately to police of Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

Investigation showed that Withers and Alexander made their getaway early Monday and that Brown and Day followed some 24 hours later.

Slain Man's Girl Friend's Mate Cleared

CLEVELAND (AP) — Authorities say they are convinced the husband of Richard S. Richards' admitted mistress had nothing to do with the bludgeoning slaying of the prosperous 38-year-old jeweler.

Investigators, meanwhile, indicated their probe so far has shown the Richards' killing may have been done by a professional.

The investigation took an odd twist Tuesday when it was disclosed that Richards had been dating a married woman, Mrs. June Wasko, 27, for more than a year.

Mrs. Wasko, an attractive blonde bar hostess, told authorities her husband, Andrew, 35, knew she was dating Richards and approved of it. She is the mother of two daughters one by a previous marriage.

Richards, the owner of four jewelry stores who was divorced six years ago, was found Monday in the trunk of his rented white Cadillac parked in a lot in suburban Berea. The coroner said Richards' head was bashed in and his $500 wristwatch and ring were missing. The time of death has been placed at Saturday night or early Sunday.

Wasko talked Tuesday night with police in his home in Brook Park.

"We're satisfied with his story," said Capt. Jerome Koble of Berea. "It appears unlikely that he had anything to do with the killing."

Columbus Day Address, Dinner Planned by K of C

William Thornton, grand knight of Hannan Council 5297, Knights of Columbus, has announced that a Columbus Day address by Luke E. Hart, head of the million-member fraternal society of Catholic men, will be broadcast at 6:05 p. m. Saturday.

Following the broadcast a Columbus Day Smorgasbord will be held at the Prairie Lanes Desert Room. Reservations are to be made by this evening with Grand Knight Thornton by calling GR 4-3252.

The theme of Hart's Columbus Day address is "Christopher Columbus — the Man, His Message and His Challenge". It will be heard over radio stations in all the countries where the K of C has councils — the United States, Mexico, Canada, Puerto Rico and the Philippines.

ANGIONEUROTIC EDEMA

Q. Is there a cure for angioneurotic edema?
A. Angioneurotic edema (giant hives) is a condition in which there is marked swelling, usually about the face. Some cases are hereditary—others are due to allergy. The inciting agent (allergen) may be anything—food, pollen, a drug, or even mental stress. For example, a girl whose angioneurotic edema was being successfully suppressed by treatment, became engaged to be married. Her condition was kept under control until she had a quarrel with her fiancé. Every subsequent lover's spat brought on giant hives.

LOSS OF TASTE AND SMELL

Q. I am 70 years old. About six months ago I lost my sense of taste and smell. Can anything be done to correct this condition?
A. Sudden loss of taste and smell can be due to disturbances in the nervous system which regulates these senses. In some instances severe infection in the sinus area may temporarily interfere with taste and smell. Thorough medical examination is indicated.

Mrs. William Sherertz, program chairman, introduced Miss Terry Trimble and Miss Glenda Reinholdt who in turn gave reports on the Girls School of Missions at Ohio Wesleyan University where they were delegates. Terry spoke on Asia and Glenda on Home Land.

Miss Gladys Vause led the group in devotions. Hostesses were Mrs. Don Courtright, Mrs. Joe Vause, Mrs. Glen Bickel, Mrs. Ben Morrison and Mrs. Stanley Smith.

Class pictures are being taken this week in the Ashville School by the Ohio School Pictures.

Ashville Elementary Schools held their second fire drill of the school year Monday morning. Student vacated the 1st and 2nd grade building in 35 seconds and the upper grade building in 59 seconds.

Miss Sandy Trimble, and Miss Susan Hoffines, both Freshmen at Ohio State university, visited during the weekend with their families.

The Bastian Funeral Home ambulance moved Mrs. Schaffer of Amanda from Dr. Hosler's office to Mercy Hospital on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knud and Mr. and Mrs. Art Deal Jr. visited last weekend at the scenic Jenny Wiley State Park in Kentucky. Enroute home they stopped at Carvers Cave.

The Ashville-Harrison Volunteer Fire Department is distributing tickets for its annual Firemen's Spaghetti Supper to be held Nov. 14 at the Teays Valley High School.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bastian enjoyed a scenic train tour Sunday.

Protection Seen Vital for Valachi

CLEVELAND (AP) — A retired New York crime investigator says underworld informer Joseph Valachi must live, even behind bars or nobody ever again will inform on the Mafia.

Former Asst. Chief Inspector Raymond B. Martin said in a television appearance Tuesday that he believes Valachi is telling the truth in his appearances before a Senate Crime Investigating Committee. The underworld is said to have posted a $100,000 reward for the murder of Valachi.

Northern Ohio Apple Harvest Is Very Poor

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — The sign at the farm drive on Ohio 14 southeast of Ravenna reads, "E. S. McConnell & Sons—apples and peaches."

The advertisement is an exaggeration. There are no peaches and few apples. And the weather of the past growing season is to blame.

Mason and Phil McConnell, brothers and partners with their mother in one of northern Ohio's largest orchards, are in the process of harvesting an apple crop 10 per cent of normal.

Some orchards are doing better others were wiped out completely; the over-all picture adds up to Ohio's poorest fruit year on record.

Trouble started with the January freeze that utterly wiped out the peach crop of about 5,000 bushels and fatally injured about 2,000 mature trees. Exactly four months later, the McConnells awoke to the sight of the late May frost that blasted a heavy crop of humbird-sized apples.

"That's what wrecked us," said Mason McConnell. "We were reconditioned to no peaches. Then came the worst May frost that I ever saw in a single night."

"It cut us from 50,000 to 5,000 bushels of apples. The Delicious were practically wiped out."

The surviving fruits struggled to maturity through one of the severest droughts on record.

"I don't know how much rain we had this summer, but I know we had one inch in the last 50 days, when we needed it most to size fruit," McConnell said. "This was the fourth dry year in a row, and the effects are beginning to accumulate."

"It has come to be a calamity. We've got to irrigate or quit. I never figured irrigation would pay, but we've got no choice."

The irrigation system is planned for operation next summer in part of the 183-acre planting.

Apple fanciers will not suffer unduly from weather's low blows. Retail prices are 50 cents to $1 a bushel over last year.

The McConnells will go into winter storage with 3,500 bushels in coolers built for 7,000.

Lima Man Is Held In Fatal Shooting

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Police held Walter Cole, 21, of Lima in the fatal shooting Tuesday night of another Lima man. He was not charged immediately.

Police said witnesses told them Cole argued with the victim, Wallace Clayborn, 36, of a Lima street, then shot him in the neck. Clayborn died a few hours later.

The victim's wife, Wilma Mae, was beaten over the head during the argument but police said they do not know by whom. She was hospitalized with serious head wounds.

5 Ohio FFA Boys Hurt in Mishap

KANSAS CITY (AAP) — Five Ohio delegates to the Future Farmers of America convention in Kansas City were injured Tuesday in a car-truck collision on Interstate 70 near Odessa, Mo.

The FFA delegates, all of whom suffered burns about the face and arms are Paul Schlotterback, 35, a school teacher from Deshler, Ohio, who was driving the car; Jerry Meyer, 16, Hamler, Ohio; James Kossow, 16, Hamler; James Dietrich, 17, New Bavaria, Ohio, and Dennis Schierebert, 17, of Leipsic, Ohio.

"STAR-CROSSED LOVERS"—Soviet cosmonauts Valentina Tereshkova, 26, first woman in space, and Andrian Nikolayev, 33, are in orbit over each other and will wed soon, say reports from Moscow. "The Star Crossed Lovers," they're called.

Hamilton Jail Escapees Are Sought

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Four men escaped Butler County Jail two at a time some 24 hours apart investigators believed today as police of three states sought trace of the quartet.

Sheriff James F. Nixon identified the four as Howard Withers, 35, of Hamilton; Dewey Alexander Jr., 23, of Franklin; George Brown 27, of Middletown, and Delmar Day Jr., 29, of nearby Trenton.

Withers was ordered committed to Lima State Hospital for observation last Thursday.

Sheriff Nixon said the escapees were detected about 5:30 p.m. Tuesday when a parole officer visited the jail to talk to one of the men. He failed to answer a summons. Check of cell quarters disclosed four men missing and bars sawed in an area leading from a shower room to an outer cell block.

A three-state alarm was broadcast immediately to police of Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

Investigation showed that Withers and Alexander made their getaway early Monday and that Brown and Day followed some 24 hours later.

Slain Man's Girl Friend's Mate Cleared

CLEVELAND (AP) — Authorities say they are convinced the husband of Richard S. Richards' admitted mistress had nothing to do with the bludgeoning slaying of the prosperous 38-year-old jeweler.

Investigators, meanwhile, indicated their probe so far has shown the Richards' killing may have been done by a professional.

The investigation took an odd twist Tuesday when it was disclosed that Richards had been dating a married woman, Mrs. June Wasko, 27, for more than a year.

Mrs. Wasko, an attractive blonde bar hostess, told authorities her husband, Andrew, 35, knew she was dating Richards and approved of it. She is the mother of two daughters one by a previous marriage.

Richards, the owner of four jewelry stores who was divorced six years ago, was found Monday in the trunk of his rented white Cadillac parked in a lot in suburban Berea. The coroner said Richards' head was bashed in and his $500 wristwatch and ring were missing. The time of death has been placed at Saturday night or early Sunday.

Wasko talked Tuesday night with police in his home in Brook Park.

"We're satisfied with his story," said Capt. Jerome Koble of Berea. "It appears unlikely that he had anything to do with the killing."

Columbus Day Address, Dinner Planned by K of C

William Thornton, grand knight of Hannan Council 5297, Knights of Columbus, has announced that a Columbus Day address by Luke E. Hart, head of the million-member fraternal society of Catholic men, will be broadcast at 6:05 p. m. Saturday.

Following the broadcast a Columbus Day Smorgasbord will be held at the Prairie Lanes Desert Room. Reservations are to be made by this evening with Grand Knight Thornton by calling GR 4-3252.

The theme of Hart's Columbus Day address is "Christopher Columbus — the Man, His Message and His Challenge". It will be heard over radio stations in all the countries where the K of C has councils — the United States, Mexico, Canada, Puerto Rico and the Philippines.

ALGERIA REVOLT CHIEFS—Leaders of the Berber tribesmen revolt in Algeria are Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj (left) and Hocine Ait-Ahmed. They are shown in Azazga in the Kabylia Mountains region. They have 8,000 troops. (Radiophoto)

ANGIONEUROTIC EDEMA

Q. Is there a cure for angioneurotic edema?

A. Angioneurotic edema (giant hives) is a condition in which there is marked swelling, usually about the face. Some cases are hereditary—others are due to allergy. The inciting agent (allergen) may be anything—food, pollen, a drug, or even mental stress. For example, a girl whose angioneurotic edema was being successfully suppressed by treatment, became engaged to be married. Her condition was kept under control until she had a quarrel with her fiancé. Every subsequent lover's spat brought on giant hives.

LOSS OF TASTE AND SMELL

Q. I am 70 years old. About six months ago I lost my sense of taste and smell. Can anything be done to correct this condition?

A. Sudden loss of taste and smell can be due to disturbances in the nervous system which regulates these senses. In some instances severe infection in the sinus area may temporarily interfere with taste and smell. Thorough medical examination is indicated.

Postal Chiefs Eye Hemlines

Female Carriers Use Own Judgment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department had a hemline problem this year. But with the speed of its ZIP code, it deftly sidestepped any fashion controversy and decreed its women letter carriers didn't have to abide by regulations for skirts 13 inches from the floor.

"We said they may dress in whatever the hem style is — we don't want them to be out of fashion," one official explained it.

It was only a flurry, but it pointed up something new in the vastness of the U.S. mail system — more and more women are becoming interested in being letter carriers.

The latest count shows 154 female letter carriers in cities across the country. That's only one-thousandth of 1 per cent of the 150,000 city carriers. But last year there were only 115 skirted postmen.

Postal authorities here think perhaps that recent stories in newspapers about cities hiring their first women letter carriers stirred the female fancy.

That's fine with the Post Office Department.

"We have no discrimination as long as they're physically able to do the job; we have no standards based on sex," one official said.

Women letter carriers make the same salary as men — $4,565 to $6,325 a year. They take the same examinations, and in some regions this means ability to drive a truck, too.

The women have to carry mail bags weighing up to 35 pounds, just like the men.

Letter carriers generally wear out two or three pairs of good shoes a year. The Post Office Department doesn't tell the women what kind of shoes to wear; it lets them find out.

Both men and women get $100 a year allowance for uniforms.

A lady carrier's jacket is similar to the man's but is "to be modified to the extent necessary for properly fitting the female employee," according to postal regulations.

Ex-Teacher, Racketeer Face Hearing

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Common Pleas Court judge is to rule next Tuesday on a motion to quash subpoenas of rackets figure Alex (Shondor) Birns and ex-school teacher Lene Leonards in connection with the Mervin L. Gold inquest.

Birns and Miss Leonards are under subpoena by Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber to assure their re-appearance at the inquest into the death of Gold, a convicted financial manipulator found slain last July in the trunk of his car.

The inquest was recessed July 18 after two days of hearing. Birns and Miss Leonards, Birns' alibi witness for the night of the slaying, both are free on bond with instructions from the coroner not to leave the county. Birns' bond is $50,000, Miss Leonards' $10,000.

In making the application to quash the subpoenas Monday, James R. Willis, lawyer for the pair, told Judge William J. McDermott that Gerber should show cause why Birns and Miss Leonards should be held on bond.

"If they (Birns and Miss Leonards) were indigent and could not afford bail bond, they would have spent the last two months in County jail," Willis said.

Birns and Miss Leonards were in court to testify they had been subpoenaed and had appeared at the inquest. Both resorted numerous times at the inquest to the Fifth Amendment claiming their testimony might be self-incriminating.

Asst. County Prosecutor George J. Moscarino opposed the motion on the grounds that he called wide latitude in conducting the inquest.

Cleveland Sheriff, Police Investigate Each Other

CLEVELAND (AP)—An investigation of the Cleveland Police Department will be made by the Cuyahoga County Sheriff's Office because the Police Department is investigating the Sheriff's Office, Sheriff James J. McGettrick reports.

The sheriff said Tuesday night police were trying to "waitwash" gambling in the city.

McGettrick's announcement of of the Police Department investigation came after police had questioned James Morris, a former sheriff's deputy, for more than four hours.

Deputy Police Inspector James Limber admitted police had questioned Morris and said they had obtained a statement from him, but refused to discuss the matter further "on orders."

Limber said Morris was being held on a charge of robbery investigation in connection with a gambling raid by sheriff's deputies last Friday.

Two Cleveland detectives said they stopped Morris while he was making an arrest because they were investigating a reported robbery in progress.

An application to have Morris released from police custody was to be heard today by Common Pleas Court Judge William J. McDermott. The former deputy was arrested Tuesday and police said he was being questioned in connection with unsolved crimes in the city.

Safety Director John N. McCormick said police were under orders not to comment on the arrest of Morris, which he said was part of a full-scale investigation into the gambling raid fiasco and the Sheriff's Office.

McGettrick fired Morris Monday afternoon. The sheriff said Morris falsified his job application when he was hired as a deputy by not listing a nine-year prison term he served for rape he committed while in the Army in Germany.

Morris alleges that homicide detectives interrupted his arrest attempt and stood by as he was beaten by the gamblers he was trying to take into custody.

Postal Chiefs Eye Hemlines

Female Carriers Use Own Judgment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department had a hemline problem this year. But with the speed of its ZIP code, it deftly sidestepped any fashion controversy and decreed its women letter carriers didn't have to abide by regulations for skirts 13 inches from the floor.

"We said they may dress in whatever the hem style is — we don't want them to be out of fashion," one official explained.

It was only a flurry, but it pointed up something new in the vastness of the U.S. mail system — more and more women are becoming interested in being letter carriers.

The latest count shows 154 female letter carriers in cities across the country. That's only one-thousandth of 1 per cent of the 150,000 city carriers. But last year there were only 115 skirted postmen.

Postal authorities here think perhaps that recent stories in newspapers about cities hiring their first women letter carriers stirred the female fancy.

That's fine with the Post Office Department.

"We have no discrimination as long as they're physically able to do the job; we have no standards based on sex," one official said.

Women letter carriers make the same salary as men — $4,565 to $6,325 a year. They take the same examinations, and in some regions this means ability to drive a truck, too.

The women have to carry mail bags weighing up to 35 pounds, just like the men.

Letter carriers generally wear out two or three pairs of good shoes a year. The Post Office Department doesn't tell the women what kind of shoes to wear; it lets them find out.

Both men and women get $100 a year allowance for uniforms.

A lady carrier's jacket is similar to the man's but is "to be modified to the extent necessary for properly fitting the female employee," according to postal regulations.

Ex-Teacher, Racketeer Face Hearing

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Common Pleas Court judge is to rule next Tuesday on a motion to quash subpoenas of rackets figure Alex (Shondor) Birns and ex-school teacher Lene Leonards in connection with the Mervin L. Gold inquest.

Birns and Miss Leonards are under subpoena by Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber to assure their re-appearance at the inquest into the death of Gold, a convicted financial manipulator found slain last July in the trunk of his car.

The inquest was recessed July 18 after two days of hearing. Birns and Miss Leonards, Birns' alibi witness for the night of the slaying, both are free on bond with instructions from the coroner not to leave the county. Birns' bond is $50,000, Miss Leonards' $10,000.

In making the application to quash the subpoenas Monday, James R. Willis, lawyer for the pair, told Judge William J. McDermott that Gerber should show cause why Birns and Miss Leonards should be held on bond.

"If they (Birns and Miss Leonards) were indigent and could not afford bail bond, they would have spent the last two months in County jail," Willis said.

Birns and Miss Leonards were in court to testify they had been subpoenaed and had appeared at the inquest. Both resorted numerous times at the inquest to the Fifth Amendment claiming their testimony might be self-incriminating.

Asst. County Prosecutor George J. Moscarino opposed the motion on the grounds the law gives the coroner what he called wide latitude in conducting the inquest.

Cleveland Sheriff, Police Investigate Each Other

CLEVELAND (AP)—An investigation of the Cleveland Police Department will be made by the Cuyahoga County Sheriff's Office because the Police Department is investigating the Sheriff's Office, Sheriff James J. McGettrick reports.

The sheriff said Tuesday night police were trying to "waitwash" gambling in the city.

McGettrick's announcement of the Police Department investigation came after police had questioned James Morris, a former sheriff's deputy, for more than four hours.

Deputy Police Inspector James Limber admitted police had questioned Morris and said they had obtained a statement from him, but refused to discuss the matter further "on orders."

Limber said Morris was being held on a charge of robbery investigation in connection with a gambling raid by sheriff's deputies last Friday.

Two Cleveland detectives said they stopped Morris while he was making an arrest because they were investigating a reported robbery in progress.

An application to have Morris released from police custody was to be heard today by Common Pleas Court Judge William J. McDermott. The former deputy was arrested Tuesday and police said he was being questioned in connection with unsolved crimes in the city.

Safety Director John N. McCormick said police were under orders not to comment on the arrest of Morris, which he said was part of a full-scale investigation into the gambling raid fiasco and the Sheriff's Office.

McGettrick fired Morris Monday afternoon. The sheriff said Morris falsified his job application when he was hired as a deputy by not listing a nine-year prison term he served for rape he committed while in the Army in Germany.

First Pickaway County Duck Identification Clinic Slated

Virgil Scott, game management supervisor of District No. 5, will help conduct Pickaway County's first duck identification clinic tomorrow, it was announced by local game protector Richard (Dick) Wolfrom.

The clinic is scheduled at 8 p. m. in the 4-H and Grange Building at the Fairgrounds.

Scott will handle the duck identification portion of the clinic, using colored slides of waterfowl in flight and mounted specimens to illustrate his discussion. Wolfrom will thoroughly discuss the current rules and regulations concerning duck hunting.

The clinic is scheduled at 7:30 to all local duck hunters," Wolfrom said.

THE LOCAL game protector reported the clinics were very popular in southwestern Ohio where he was a wildlife patrolman for several years.

He told of waterfowl hunters with many years experience who admitted they profited by attending the identification meetings.

Rebuilding Job Slated For 'Stilt'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — When you try to do a rebuilding job on a guy standing seven feet tall and already one of the stars in his field, you take on quite an undertaking.

Yet one of the first moves by new Coach Alex Hannum of the San Francisco Warriors was to do just that with Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, the National Basketball Association's leading scorer. Hannum wants Chamberlain and the entire Warrior team to do more moving and vary the offense, which seems to have become stereotyped. Improvement also is needed in Wilt's defensive play.

Otherwise, the Warriors may again finish near the bottom despite Chamberlain's scoring, which averaged 44.8 points per game last season.

After San Francisco finished with a 31-49 record in 1962-63 the first season after switching from Philadelphia, Hannum moved from Syracuse to replace Bob Ferry as coach.

"My idea is that in order to have a better team effort, Wilt must do more than just score," Hannum explained at a news conference before the team embarked on a series of exhibitions against Los Angeles starting Wednesday night in Stockton, Calif.

Red and Black Junior High Wins 64-6 Tilt

The Circleville Junior High School football team handed a visiting Chillicothe J. A. Smith Junior High unit a 64-6 walloping Monday.

Jim Shaw, seventh and eighth grade mentor, said the tiny Tigers looked outstanding in spite of a few mistakes.

Shaw said the first touchdown was scored on a halfback pass from Steve Dade to Hill and the second came when Hill kicked off into the J. A. Smith end zone.

According to the Red and Black mentor, no visiting player even made an attempt to cover the ball. Hill picked it up in the end zone giving the tiny Tigers their second score with only three minutes of the game gone.

SIX CIRCLEVILLE TDs came on pass interceptions. There are about 55 candidates out for the local junior high team. Shaw said 40 dressed the first game.

The next game for the local team comes tomorrow when a visiting Mt. Logan team will provide competition on the Circleville gridiron.

Palmer Eyes Palmer for Ryder Cup

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Captain Arnold Palmer isn't going to be timid about using Arnold Palmer in the Ryder Cup golf matches against the British, starting Friday.

"I intend to play the men who I think can win for us," the Yank leader from Latrobe, Pa., said Wednesday. "If I feel I am playing well, I won't let my modesty stand in the way. I'll pick myself. If I'm off, to the sidelines I go."

Palmer gave a man-by-man rundown of the American team.

Julius Boros—"He's playing so well it scares me."

Dow Finsterwald—"Better than he has in four or five years."

Gene Littler—"Not at his best but getting to be more sound."

Bill Casper, Jr.—"Fresh after his long layoff with a bad hand, playing well."

Billy Maxwell—"Jerking the ball a bit, but improving."

Johnny Pott—"Playing really well."

Bob Goalby—"Not playing well, having putting troubles."

Tony Lema—"Exceptionally well."

Dave Ragan—"You don't know what he'll do—can go either way, real good or real bad."

The Duke Sidelined

Tiger Co-Captain Is Definitely Out Of Wilmington Tilt

Little doubt remains that Circleville High School's football team will be facing its toughest contest of the year Friday at Wilmington. This becomes more of a cold fact in that the Tigers will be without the services of ace fullback and linebacker Duke Fyffe.

The Tiger co-captain has definitely been sidelined for at least two weeks and possibly more by a knee injury suffered Friday during the Washington C. H. game.

Fyffe has been the second leading ground gainer for the Red and Black this year. He represented a bulwark of the defensive unit.

In five games he has added 395 yards to the Circleville ground attack.

CIRCLEVILLE Coach Paul Starr reported he is not yet sure who will replace Fyffe, either at fullback or linebacker. He is anticipating a change in the lineup to fill the vacancies, but feels he will not be sure of the starting 11 until Friday.

The Wilmington Hurricane is much bigger than Circleville, according to the Tiger scouting report.

And according to scouts, they don't have a "whole lot of offense but what they do, they do very well."

The team has good depth at almost every position.

Although they don't run many plays, the Hurricane, coached by Dean Waddell, has displayed by far the most productive attack in the South Central Ohio League. They have scored a total of 144 points this year.

Both Circleville and Wilmington sport perfect records. An ironic twist to the game is that the last loss by both teams was at the hands of the other.

Circleville has romped to 20 consecutive victories since Oct. 5, 1961, when the Hurricane handed them a 30-0 pounding. The game was Circleville's last visit to Wilmington.

And Waddell's charges have won nine straight since Oct. 12 last year when the loss 18-0 here. Friday's match will be a real grudge match in this respect.

THE WINNER of the tilt will also have a clear shot at the South Central League title since both are currently owners of the only unblemished records in the loop. But the loser cannot be counted out, either.

One bright spot in the picture this week is the anticipated return of Chet Iery Jr. and Jim Starkey. Both have been out of action since before the season started with similar wrist injuries. However, Starr said yesterday both have had protective casts removed.

The Tiger coach noted that neither had missed a single practice. They have been running regularly to keep in condition.

Coach Starr feels if the Tigers can minimize their errors Friday, they will give Wilmington a real good game.

It is his contention the hustling, pressing type of football played by the Tigers has caused some of the errors committed by the team.

"But you have to give the boys a lot of credit," he said. "They never give up and are constantly encouraging each other."

And to prove his point, he cited the number of Tiger fumbles last week (seven with six lost) emphasizing the Red and Black grid-ers still "stuck together" and won.

Locally Owned Horse Wins at Logan Show

Royal McDonald, a registered pinto gelding owned by Mrs. E. H. Frazier and shown by Miss Jackie Frazier, brought home two blue ribbons, a trophy and third place ribbon from the Buckeye Trail Riding Club Horse Show at Logan Sunday.

The registered pinto gelding won first in halter and first in ladies western show horse classes. The third ribbon was won in the spotted show horse class.

His stable mate, Royal Fury, a palomino stallion owned by Betty Lee Cochran, also shown by Miss Frazier, won the blue ribbon and trophy in the palomino and morgan show class, fourth in the parade and fifth in the halter classes.

Both horses are to show in their respective classes at the Ohio Western Horse Assn. Roundup this weekend at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

The roundup consists of the top high point horses in the Ohio Western Horse Assn.

Cross Country Meet Changed To Tomorrow

Whitehall Rams Host Tiger Harriers in Third Meet of Season

The Circleville High School cross country track team will travel to Whitehall for a meet tomorrow instead of Friday as previously announced.

Track coach Dave LaBounty reprinted the time of the meet was still 4:30 p. m.

Time trials last night at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds saw the Tiger harriers post some of their best times of the year.

Dave Greene, the number one man last night, ran the two mile distance in 10:44 yesterday, while Charles Hurley was just a second behind and Larry Morgan went the route in 10:47.

LYMAN England with a time of 10:59 and Jerry Shasteen with a time of 11 minutes flat, Charles Martin and John Butts round out the traveling squad for the Whitehall meet.

LaBounty said the home meet with Chillicothe Monday will probably be run at the Fairgrounds.

Kicker Toughens His Toe on Wall

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Not many guys spend the summer trying to push down walls with their toes. George Jarman did and it paid off.

German, a stocky 188-pound guard for the Oklahoma Sooners, worked on an isometric-contraction exercise during the summer in an effort to improve his place kicking.

"I would try to push down a wall with my toe," Jarman said. "I didn't hurt any walls but I had some sore toes for a while."

The toes are apparently healed and Jarman is establishing himself as a place-kicker to be reckoned with.

So far this season he has made six conversions in six attempts and has been successful on two of three field goal attempts.

The first 300 game approved by the American Bowling Congress was rolled by A. C. Jellison of St. Louis on Dec. 15, 1908.

In Memoriam

In memory of our loved one, George Mavis, who passed on three years ago today, Oct. 9, 1960.
At twilight, when twilight hour draws near, and sunset flames the sky, we think of you dear, and the happy days gone by.
Thoughts of you come drifting back with our dreams to say,
To know that you are resting when the twilight ends the day.
Sadly missed by wife and family.

AP Guesspert Says Sooners To Top Texas

Alabama, Navy, OSU Also Tagged for Victories Saturday

By HAROLD CLAASSEN Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Oklahoma is ranked No. 1 in the college football world and Texas is ranked No. 2.

Saturday these two rivals collide in the athletic showpiece of the Texas State Fair in Dallas. When it is all over, Oklahoma still will be No. 1, ending a string of five straight losses to the Longhorns.

This corner was correct on 39 of 52 picks a week ago for a .750 average. The season's figures are 109-42 for .722.

Oklahoma is the pick because of Jim Grisham's power running and the superb condition of the entire Sooners squad. Texas is hurt with Ernie Koch Jr., the club's star punter and hero of the Texas 9-6 triumph a year ago, out for the season with an injury.

Other picks: Alabama over Florida. The Alabama team has been a disappointment all season.

Navy over Southern Methodist. The Middles with Roger Staubach at the helm, lead the nation in scoring, in passing yardage and total offense.

Wisconsin over Purdue. Off their respective victories over Notre Dame the Badgers are a touchdown better.

Southern California over Notre Dame. The Irish are stingy on defense but don't have a consistent offense. The Trojans have Pete Beathard and Hal Bedsole.

Ohio State over Illinois. The Illini are on the way back but haven't come far enough to win two straight in the Big Ten, especially when the Ohio State line-up includes a Don Unverferth and a Dick Van Raaphorst.

Penn State over Army. The Cadets first three fullbacks are hurt and No. 4 is 'reen.

Nebraska over Air Force. A battle of quarterbacks with Nebraska's Dennis Clardge getting the better of the Falcons' Terry Isaacson.

Arkansas over Baylor. The Porkers have lost their game of the season.

Northwestern over Minnesota. Tom Myers will bring the Wildcats home over a rugged defense led by Carl Eller. Your television thriller.

Washington over Oregon State. The Huskies, the disappointment of the Pacific Northwest, get on the right track before the home folks.

North Carolina State over South Carolina. Sammy Anderson, South Carolina co-captain and halfback, out for the season with a bad knee.

Georgia Tech over Tennessee. Billy Lothridge.

Miami over Louisiana State. The Miami Hurricanes have their pass patterns straightened out.

Others: Colorado over Oklahoma State, Iowa over Indiana, Kansas over Iowa State, Michigan State over Michigan, Missouri over Kansas State, Tulsa over Cincinnati and Wichita over Hardin-Simmons.

Favorites won 28.8 per cent of the races at the 1963 Hollywood Park season.

19-Page 'Book' on Yanks Helped Bums Win Series

NEW YORK (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers' stunning four-game World Series sweep over the New York Yankees was the result of a perfect book—actually 19 pages of loose leaf paper—compiled by three top scouts.

Carrying out the instructions and recommendations in the secret report, Dodger pitchers Sandy Koufax, Johnny Podres and Don Drysdale were able to limit the American League's toughest hitting team to four runs and 22 hits, only five for extra bases.

The weapon was provided by the information on the 3 x 12 sheets of loose leaf paper, put together by Director of Scouts Al Campanis and two of his aides, Lefty Phillips and Ted McGrew.

The reports contained information on the strengths and weaknesses of every Yankee in the hitting, fielding and pitching departments. In addition to routine information, the Dodger pitchers learned which batters would lay off certain pitches, which they preferred, which they were most likely to hit—and in what direction the ball would probably travel when hit.

"I have never seen a more thorough scouting report," said Puzzy Bavasi, Dodger general manager.

The players were told which Yankees were fast ball hitters and when they were most likely to try and steal or attempt to hit-and-run. On the other hand, the Dodgers learned when and against whom they could try to take the extra base, and which pitchers could be waited out and which could not.

Campanis, who revealed the nature of the scouting report only in general terms, declined to make public the more personal and secret disclosures in the reports.

"Much of the report was obvious," said Campanis. "We played the Yankees for a power club. We didn't expect them to steal and they didn't. We didn't expect them to bunt until late in the game, and they didn't. And because of this knowledge, the infield was able to play deep. As a result, Wills and Dick Tracewski were able to take several hits away from the Yankees."

Yankee pitching also was broken down from every angle—a pitchers' best delivery, what to expect when a pitcher is ahead or behind on a count, what pitch a pitcher uses in key spots.

Navy QB Named 'Back of Week'

NEW YORK (AP)—Jolly Roger Staubach, the pirate-bold quarterback of Navy's unbeaten and fourth-ranked football team, is The Associated Press' Back of the Week for the second time.

Staubach, a 6-foot-2 junior, gained the distinction of his sensational performance in Navy's 26-13 victory over Michigan at Ann Arbor last Saturday when he passed for two touchdowns and ran for another.

Staubach, hero of last year's victory over Army, set an Academy record for the second straight week against Michigan. He completed 14 of 16 passes for 237 yards and ran for another 70.

Giants Await 'New' Browns

Some Changes Made Within Last Year

CLEVELAND (AP)—When the Cleveland Browns meet the New York Giants in Yankee Stadium Sunday afternoon, the Giants will see a team that has undergone several changes since the Browns beat them in the National Football League opener last year.

In addition to a new coach, the Browns have had a fair-sized shakeup in players. Dub Jones, former Browns star and now an assistant to Coach Blanton Collier, is the man who sends down the plays from the top of the stadium and has made a major contribution to the Browns' perfect record in four games.

Frank Ryan has developed into one of the leading quarterbacks in the league since he took over the passing chores when Jim Ninkowski was injured in mid-season last year.

John Brown, who saw very little service as a rookie last year, has come along well at offensive tackle. Gary Collins has developed into the receiver the Browns hoped he would when they made him their first draft choice a couple of years ago. Rookie Larry Benz has done a creditable job at safety.

But undoubtedly the man the Giants will be watching most is fullback Jim Brown. Big Jim is well on his way to regaining the league rushing crown he lost to Jim Taylor of Green Bay last year after holding it for an unprecedented five years.

Brown has gained 664 yards rushing on 78 attempts, while Taylor, his nearest competitor, has 297 yards on 66 carries.

Y. A. Tittle of New York is the league's leading passer with 50 completions in 82 attempts in three games. He tossed the game against Pittsburgh which the Giants lost. Ryan is second with 50 completions in 85 attempts in four games.

A victory for the Giants, who have a 3-1 record, would give them a share of the lead in the NFL's Eastern Conference. They won the conference title last year.

Keane Is Voted As Top Manager

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Keane, who piloted the St. Louis Cardinals to a surprising second-place finish, was named today as National League "Manager of the Year" for 1963.

The 51-year-old Redbirds' skipper was an overwhelming choice in the annual Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters. Of the 71 ballots cast, Keane received 53 votes.

Walter Alston, manager of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers, was second with 15 votes. Bobby Bragan, whose Milwaukee Braves finished sixth, got the remaining three votes. Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phils, who was "Manager of the Year" in 1962, failed to get a vote this year.

AP Guesspert Says Sooners To Top Texas

Alabama, Navy, OSU Also Tagged for Victories Saturday

By HAROLD CLAASSEN Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Oklahoma is ranked No. 1 in the college football world and Texas is ranked No. 2.

Saturday these two rivals collide in the athletic showpiece of the Texas State Fair in Dallas. When it is all over, Oklahoma still will be No. 1, ending a string of five straight losses to the Longhorns. This corner was correct on 39 of 52 picks a week ago for a .750 average. The season's figures are 109-42 for .722.

Oklahoma is the pick because of Jim Grisham's power running and the superb condition of the entire Sooners squad. Texas is hurt with Ernie Koch Jr., the club's star punter and hero of the Texas 9-6 triumph a year ago, out for the season with an injury.

Other picks: Alabama over Florida: The Florida team has been a disappointment all season. Navy over Southern Methodist: The Middles with Roger Staubach at the helm, lead the nation in scoring, in passing yardage and total offense.

Wisconsin over Purdue: Off their respective victories over Notre Dame the Badgers are a touchdown better.

Southern California over Notre Dame: The Irish are stingy on defense but don't have a consistent offense. The Trojans have Pete Beathard and Hal Bedsole.

Ohio State over Illinois: The Illini are on the way back but haven't come far enough to win two straight in the Big Ten, especially when the Ohio State line-up includes a Don Unverferth and a Dick Van Raaphorst.

Penn State over Army: The Cadets first three fullbacks are hurt and No. 4 is green.

Nebraska over Air Force: A battle of quarterbacks with Nebraska's Dennis Clardige getting the better of the Falcons' Terry Isaacson.

Arkansas over Baylor: The Porkers have lost their game of the season.

Northwestern over Minnesota: Tom Myers will bring the Wildcats home over a rugged defense led by Carl Eller. Your television thriller.

Washington over Oregon State: The Huskies, the disappointment of the Pacific Northwest, get on the right track before the home folks.

North Carolina State over South Carolina: Sammy Anderson, South Carolina co-captain and halfback, out for the season with a bad knee.

Georgia Tech over Tennessee: Billy Lothridge.

Miami over Louisiana State: The Miami Hurricanes have their pass patterns straightened out.

Others: Colorado over Oklahoma State, Iowa over Indiana, Kansas over Iowa State, Michigan State over Michigan, Missouri over Kansas State, Tulsa over Cincinnati and Wichita over Hardin-Simmons.

Favorites won 28.8 per cent of the races at the 1963 Hollywood Park season.

TV Graduates Selected for Concert Band

Lynn Noecker and Susan Hoffhines, freshman music students at Ohio State University, have been selected as members of the OSU Concert Band.

LYNN NOECKER

The two Pickaway County students were included in a group of 100 students out of 500 who applied for membership in the band.

Both students are 1962 graduates of Teays Valley High School.

SUSAN HOFFHINES

The concert band, directed by Dr. Donald E. McGinnis, is said to be one of the finest college concert bands in the nation.

The annual spring tour will include performances at Philadelphia and the first concert will be given Nov. 3 in Merston Auditorium on the campus.

Teays Valley 8th Graders Slate Finale

An 8th grade football game will be featured 8 p. m. Friday on the Teays Valley Athletic Field.

No game is scheduled that night for the high school team. The Teays Valley Vikings will be traveling to Lancaster on Saturday evening for a tilt with Lancaster Fenwick.

A round robin tournament was held between the district's 3 eighth grade teams, with Ashville coming out the victor. The winners will find the going much rougher as they will meet a selected team from the remaining Scioto and Walnut teams, for the evening's tilt.

Junior-High Cheerleaders will lead their schools in cheers and the Teays Valley Cadet Band, under the direction of William Pangburn, will offer a halftime performance. Mom's Night, also will be observed.

Following the tilt a "Get Acquainted" dance is being planned for the students and their families. Weather permitting it will be held outside of the high school on the blacktop drive. Otherwise it will be held in the high school cafeteria.

The dance, featuring square and folk dances, will be conducted by Jim Wagner, director of the Columbus South Side YMCA who also will instruct all beginners. It is being sponsored by the Athletic Boosters.

Gate receipts will be divided between the three schools to be used for their Junior-High Athletic Programs.

Ike Ends Silence To Back Ban on School Racism

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, speaking out publicly on the matter for the first time, says the Supreme Court's 1954 decision outlawing public school segregation "is morally and legally correct."

He expressed this conviction in an interview with Associated Press reporters at his office on the Gettysburg College campus.

As president, Eisenhower repeatedly declined to say whether he thought the court's controversial ruling was right or wrong, good or bad.

For example, at a news conference Sept. 5, 1956, Eisenhower said: "I think it makes no difference whether or not I endorse it (the court decision). The Constitution is as the Supreme Court interprets it, and I must conform to that and do my very best to see that it is carried out in this country."

The following is the text of the interview:

Question: While you were president you repeatedly declined to say whether you thought the Supreme Court's decision on school segregation was right or wrong, a good decision or a bad one. Now that you are no longer in office, do you care to express an opinion on that?

Eisenhower: I think there is no question about the legality and the propriety of the decision of May '54, as I recall. It was a vote of 9 to 0. The Southerners on the court participated in that decision.

I just say I believe the decision expressed the intentions of our Constitution and therefore is morally and legally correct.

Q. Your successor has been facing some of the same severe problems that you did in this civil rights field. Given the same set of general circumstances which you faced in having to call out troops in Little Rock and those which faced President Kennedy in the use of troops in some of the Southern states, would you hope that any future Republican president would follow the same course in such circumstances?

A. It depends on the circumstances. As far as I know, no Republicans took off against the use of troops in Birmingham or Montgomery.

I was determined that no governor, no matter what his power or political strength, was going to defy a properly issued order of a federal court, and that is all there was to it. It could have been on race relations or on a strike. It could have been on anything in the world. And I said "We will take the necessary steps."

Since emotions were high down there, I took the National Guard away from the governor's control, and I could have used that. But this means that in these circumstances a National Guardsman would be enforcing the law against his brother. This was a bad thing. I wanted no disorder, and I knew that I could count on outside regular troops to be disciplined. They went, and there were no deaths; as a matter of fact, not even a single serious injury.

Q. Do you think that Congress ought to act on the tax bill this year, or should it wait until it sizes up President Kennedy's new budget next year?

A. A number of suggestions have been made to do something specific about the expression the President used—"to bring the expenditures under better discipline, or better control."

So any purpose of delay, I think, is to get expenditures under control.

If a president announced that under no circumstances — unless there was a great emergency declared by Congress—would he approve the expenditure in any year more than some specified amount, I would think that was proper.

Q. Do you believe Republicans in Congress ought to be in the forefront of those who are cutting foreign aid?

A. No I don't. I happen to be one of those people that believe we ought to spend for the mutual security program what we need to spend.

The reform I would like to see is this: to get a long-term congressional authorization, certainly five years. Take a look at it every year so you know where you are going. . . . If we could have a permanent figure of some where near $4 billion I believe we could do a job that could be very good for the world and, above all, for ourselves.

Q. On the Cuban situation, do you have any ideas or recommendations on what our government might further do than it is doing now to counter the Castro regime?

A. No, I don't. I assume that the government is staying just as close with the Organization of American States as it possibly can. What I would really spend effort on right now would be to solidify a better union there and gain a better consensus.

NED HARDEN

Rotary To Hear Timely Talk on Pumpkin Show

Circleville Rotarians will hear an appropriate and timely address when they meet in regular session noon Thursday.

Ned Harden, parade and float director for the Circleville Pumpkin Show, will be guest speaker. His talk will be "Behind the Scenes Operation of the Pumpkin Show."

Harden will outline some of the many details required in launching and making the show a success each year. His comments will be timely in that this year's big festival opens next Wednesday.

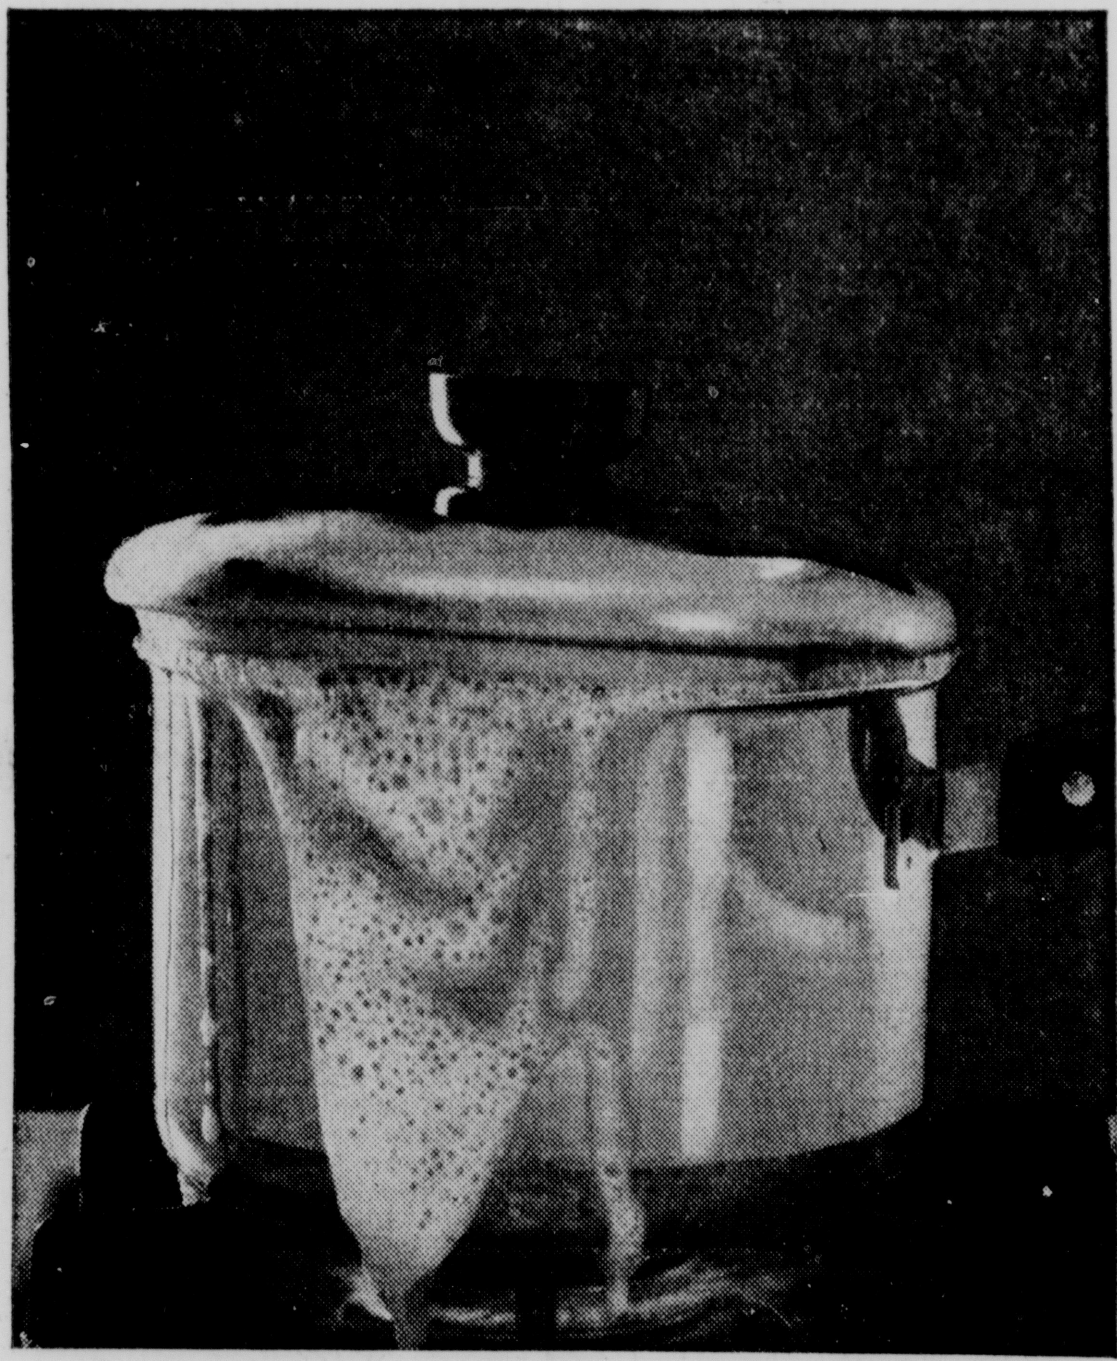

A veteran Pumpkin Show promoter, Harden started his work as a parade and float official in 1949. He assisted the late George Fishpaw and Roy Marshall who were director and assistant director at that time.

Harden, president of the local Harden Chevrolet Co., is vice president of the Circleville Rotary Club. He also serves as treasurer of the Circleville New Car Dealers Assn. and chairman of the Pickaway County Regional Planning Commission.

Basutoland's only industries are a small brick factory, mission printing presses and a few handicraft shops. Its one university is operated by Roman Catholic missionaries.

Barton A. Holl Guest Speaker For Chamber Dinner Event

Barton A. Holl, president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, will be guest speaker when the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce conducts its "Meet the President Dinner" Oct. 29.

The community wide event will be at the fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building. A fellowship period will start at 6:30 p. m. followed by dinner at 7.

Holl, a long time civic and industrial leader in both his hometown of Logan and Southeastern Ohio, will talk on "Minding Your Own Business." Another highlight will be organ dinner music by Miss Sally Hines, a senior at Jackson Twp. High School.

Tickets for the event are being distributed by Chamber of Commerce directors. The duets also may be obtained at the Chamber office on E. Main St. Wives are invited.

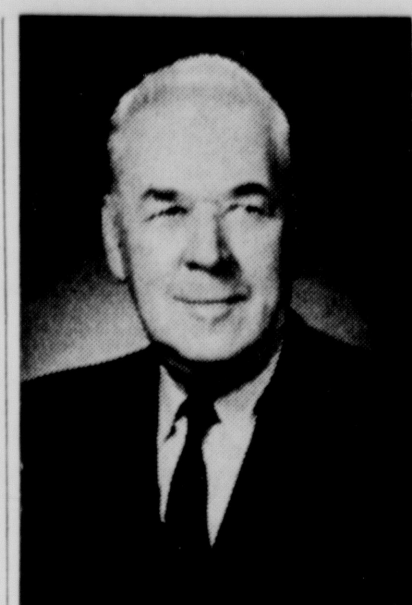

HOLL was born and reared in Logan and educated in Logan Public Schools. Following graduation from high school, he joined his father, Gerge W. Holl, in the operation of a decorating firm. This connection was interrupted by World War I, when he became a supply sergeant with Co. H, 330th Infantry, 83rd Division, serving a year and a half overseas.

Early in 1926 Holl, with other civic-minded citizens, organized the Logan Chamber of Commerce. He was elected president of this group in 1928. The following year he became president and general manager — devoting his full time to the job.

It was through his efforts, that the Sun Glow Industries and The H. C. Godman Company joined the industrial life of Logan. These firms, to this day, provide jobs for a large number of Logan and Hocking County citizens.

In addition to his success in bringing new industry to the area, Holl worked on the problems of existing industries in Logan and the Hocking Valley. He was instrumental in keeping The Logan Clay Products Co., the firm he now heads, in operation during a trying financial period which threatened the loss of this industry to Logan.

As President of The Logan Home

BARTON A. HOLL

Telephone Co., he assisted in the merger of this firm with The Athens Telephone Co. — the combined companies becoming the Commonwealth Telephone Co. of Ohio. He served as president of Commonwealth until June 1960, when the firm's assets were purchased by The General Telephone & Electronics Co. of Ohio.

The Logan Chamber of Commerce, under Holl's guidance, became a community service center on the problem of local industries, businesses and individuals.

In 1939, Holl became associated with Logan Clay Products as sales manager. While in this capacity he was successful in securing adequate financial assistance from commercial banks to ease the strain under which the company had been operating.

IN SEPTEMBER of 1950, he became president and general manager of Logan Clay and during the past 11 years under his leadership the company has expanded. In 1957 plans were announced for construction of a million-dollar plant adjacent to the original site to take care of the growth in sales.

Acquisitions of Logan Clay include the Logan Foundry & Machine Co., and in June 1958, the Graff Kitting and Worthington Ceramics Co. — two Pennsylvania plants now operating as wholly-owned divisions of Logan Clay.

Approximately 450 persons now have regular and steady employment at the Logan and Pennsylvania plants.

Along with his duties as president and general manager of Logan Clay, Holl has found time to lend a hand toward further industrial development of Logan and Hocking County.

As chairman of the Industry Advisory Group of the Logan Trade Club, assistance was given the Metal Powder Products Co., Inc., to locate its plant in Logan, as well as the General Electric plant to locate northeast of the city.

He is, and has been for the last several years, a director of The Farmers & Merchants Bank of Logan. In January of 1962, he was made chairman of the board.

HE SERVED as a director of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, representing Southeastern Ohio from 1953 to 1958. He was vice president representing Southeastern Ohio before his election to the presidency.

Holl was named "Citizen of the Year" by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Organization last January 13. This award was presented by the State Commander of the VFW.

He was presented the "Professional Manager's Citation" at a meeting of The Ohio University Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management March 9, 1961. This was one of four such citations made in the United States for 1961. The award is made to a member of SAM who has by his position, activities and nature of his business abilities, applied advanced principles to management, which is the aim of the society.

The Ohio Chamber's top executive is a member of the St. Matthew Lutheran Church of Logan and resides with his wife the former Grace Sparnon, at 479 E. Main St. They have three children — Mrs. Richard S. Brandt, Barton S. Holl and Richard H. Holl — all residing in Logan.

Miss Sally Hines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Hines, has studied piano for 10 years with Mrs. Leon Van Vliet and intends to continue the study of music in college. She assists her teacher extensively with her an-

Early Entries Requested for Arts, Crafts

As seamstresses and craft hobbyists are putting the final touches on their entries for Pumpkin Show members of the committee in charge of Home Arts and Crafts request early registration of entries.

Lists of entries may be mailed to Mrs. Sterling Poling, Route 4, in an effort to save time and avoid having to wait in line when delivering entries. The advance entries will require only a few minutes for attaching name tags which will be made out in advance.

Persons making advance entries are instructed to list the articles by section and class from the premium book. It is not necessary to identify or describe the article, Mrs. Poling said.

Entries may also be made at the armory from 8 a. m. until noon on Wednesday.

Home Arts and Crafts committee members are, in addition to Mrs. Poling, Mrs. Robert A. Jones, Mrs. John Griffith, Mrs. Donald Hulse, Mrs. William Defenbaugh and Mrs. William Radcliff. They will be assisted by Mrs. Marshall Douthett and Mrs. David Seacock.

Firemen Check On Burning Rags

Circleville Firemen were called to the Pickaway Grain Co. at 9:28 p. m. yesterday to check a minor blaze in the cab of a truck.

The truck, owned by W. R. Skidmore of West Virginia, was in the process of picking up a load of corn. Rags lodged under the dash ignited. The cause was not determined.

Firemen remained at the scene long enough to insure the burning rags were doused.

annual class recitals

In January of 1961 Miss Hines presented a memory recital, playing the music of many world famous composers.

On Nov. 25 of this year she will present a recital at the Presbyterian Church at 8 p. m. The public is invited to hear her play compositions by Bach, Beethoven, Chopin and Mozart.

TV Graduates Selected for Concert Band

Lynn Noecker and Susan Hoffhines, freshman music students at Ohio State University, have been selected as members of the OSU Concert Band.

LYNN NOECKER

The two Pickaway County students were included in a group of 100 students out of 500 who applied for membership in the band.

Both students are 1962 graduates of Teays Valley High School.

SUSAN HOFFHINES

The concert band, directed by Dr. Donald E. McGinnis, is said to be one of the finest college concert bands in the nation.

The annual spring tour will include performances at Philadelphia and the first concert will be given Nov. 3 in Merston Auditorium on the campus.

Teays Valley 8th Graders Slate Finale

An 8th grade football game will be featured 8 p. m. Friday on the Teays Valley Athletic Field.

No game is scheduled that night for the high school team. The Teays Valley Vikings will be traveling to Lancaster on Saturday evening for a tilt with Lancaster Fenwick.

A round robin tournament was held between the district's 3 eighth grade teams, with Ashville coming out the victor. The winners will find the going much rougher as they will meet a selected team from the remaining Scioto and Walnut teams, for the evening's tilt.

Junior-High Cheerleaders will lead their schools in cheers and the Teays Valley Cadet Band, under the direction of William Pangburn, will offer a halftime performance. Mom's Night, also will be observed.

Following the tilt a "Get Acquainted" dance is being planned for the students and their families. Weather permitting it will be held outside of the high school on the blacktop drive. Otherwise it will be held in the high school cafeteria.

The dance, featuring square and folk dances, will be conducted by Jim Wagner, director of the Columbus South Side YMCA who also will instruct all beginners. It is being sponsored by the Athletic Boosters.

Gate receipts will be divided between the three schools to be used for their Junior-High Athletic Programs.

Ike Ends Silence To Back Ban on School Racism

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, speaking out publicly on the matter for the first time, says the Supreme Court's 1954 decision outlawing public school segregation "is morally and legally correct."

He expressed this conviction in an interview with Associated Press reporters at his office on the Gettysburg College campus.

As president, Eisenhower repeatedly declined to say whether he thought the court's controversial ruling was right or wrong, good or bad.

For example, at a news conference Sept. 5, 1956, Eisenhower said: "I think it makes no difference whether or not I endorse it (the court decision). The Constitution is as the Supreme Court interprets it, and I must conform to that and do my very best to see that it is carried out in this country."

The following is the text of the interview:

Question: While you were president you repeatedly declined to say whether you thought the Supreme Court's decision on school segregation was right or wrong, a good decision or a bad one. Now that you are no longer in office, do you care to express an opinion on that?

Eisenhower: I think there is no question about the legality and the propriety of the decision of May '54, as I recall. It was a vote of 9 to 0. The Southerners on the court participated in that decision.

I just say I believe the decision expressed the intentions of our Constitution and therefore is morally and legally correct.

Q. Your successor has been facing some of the same severe problems that you did in this civil rights field. Given the same set of general circumstances which you faced in having to call out troops in Little Rock and those which faced President Kennedy in the use of troops in some of the Southern states, would you hope that any future Republican president would follow the same course in such circumstances?

A. It depends on the circumstances. As far as I know, no Republican took off against the use of troops in Birmingham or Montgomery.

I was determined that no government, no matter what his power or political strength, was going to defy a properly issued order of a federal court, and that is all there was to it. It could have been on race relations or on a strike. It could have been on anything in the world. And I said, "We will take the necessary steps."

Since emotions were high down there, I took the National Guard away from the governor's control, and I could have used that. But this means that in these circumstances a National Guardsman would be enforcing the law against his brother. This was a bad thing. I wanted no disorder, and I knew that I could count on outside regular troops to be disciplined. They went, and there were no deaths; as a matter of fact, not even a single serious injury.

Q. Do you think that Congress ought to act on the tax bill this year, or should it wait until it sizes up President Kennedy's new budget next year?

A. A number of suggestions have been made to do something specific about the expression the President used—"to bring the expenditures under better discipline, or better control."

So any purpose of delay, I think, is to get expenditures under control.

If a president announced that under no circumstances—unless there was a great emergency declared by Congress—would he approve the expenditure in any year more than some specified amount, I would think that was proper.

Q. Do you believe Republicans in Congress ought to be in the forefront of those who are cutting foreign aid?

A. No I don't. I happen to be one of those people that believe we ought to spend for the mutual security program what we need to spend.

The reform I would like to see is this: to get a long term congressional authorization, certainly five years. Take a look at it every year so you know where you are going. . . . If we could have a permanent figure of somewhere near $4 billion I believe we could do a job that could be very good for the world and, above all, for ourselves.

Q. On the Cuban situation, do you have any ideas or recommendations on what our government might further do than it is doing

NED HARDEN

Rotary To Hear Timely Talk on Pumpkin Show

Circleville Rotarians will hear an appropriate and timely address when they meet in regular session noon Thursday.

Ned Harden, parade and float director for the Circleville Pumpkin Show, will be guest speaker. His talk will be "Behind the Scenes Operation of the Pumpkin Show."

Harden will outline some of the many details required in launching and making the show a success each year. His comments will be timely in that this year's big festival opens next Wednesday.

A veteran Pumpkin Show promoter, Harden started his work as a parade and float official in 1949. He assisted the late George Fishpaw and Roy Marshall who were director and assistant director at that time.

Harden, president of the local Harden Chevrolet Co., is vice president of the Circleville Rotary Club. He also serves as treasurer of the Circleville New Car Dealers Assn. and chairman of the Pickaway County Regional Planning Commission.

Basutoland's only industries are a small brick factory, mission printing presses and a few handcraft shops. Its one university is operated by Roman Catholic missionaries.

now to counter the Castro regime?

A. No, I don't. I assume that the government is staying just as close with the Organization of American States as it possibly can. What I would really spend effort on right now would be to solidify a better union there and gain a better consensus.

Barton A. Holl Guest Speaker For Chamber Dinner Event

Barton A. Holl, president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, will be guest speaker when the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce conducts its "Meet the President Dinner" Oct. 29.

The community wide event will be at the fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building. A fellowship period will start at 6:30 p. m. followed by dinner at 7.

Holl, a long time civic and industrial leader in both his hometown of Logan and Southeastern Ohio, will talk on "Minding Your Own Business." Another highlight will be organ dinner music by Miss Sally Hines, a senior at Jackson Twp. High School.

Tickets for the event are being distributed by Chamber of Commerce directors. The tickets also may be obtained at the Chamber office on E. Main St. Wives are invited.

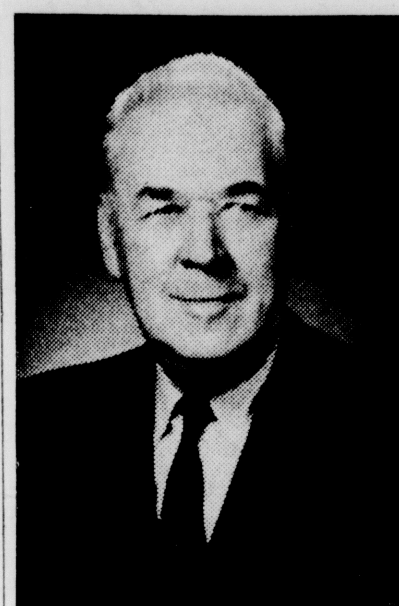

HOLL was born and reared in Logan and educated in Logan Public Schools. Following graduation from high school, he joined his father, Gerge W. Holl, in the operation of a decorating firm. This connection was interrupted by World War I, when he became a supply sergeant with Co. H, 330th Infantry, 83rd Division, serving a year and a half overseas.

Early in 1926 Holl, with other civic-minded citizens, organized the Logan Chamber of Commerce. He was elected president of this group in 1928. The following year he became president and general manager—devoting his full time to the job.

It was through his efforts, that the Sun Glow Industries and The H. C. Godman Company joined the industrial life of Logan. These firms, to this day, provide jobs for a large number of Logan and Hocking County citizens.

In addition to his success in bringing new industry to the area, Holl worked on the problems of existing industries in Logan and the Hocking Valley. He was instrumental in keeping The Logan Clay Products Co., the firm he now heads, in operation during a trying financial period which threatened the loss of this industry to Logan.

As President of The Logan Home

BARTON A. HOLL

Telephone Co., he assisted in the merger of this firm with The Athens Telephone Co.—the combined companies becoming the Commonwealth Telephone Co. of Ohio. He served as president of Commonwealth until June 1960, when the firm's assets were purchased by The General Telephone & Electronics Co. of Ohio.

The Logan Chamber of Commerce, under Holl's guidance, became a community service center on the problem of local industries, businesses and individuals.

In 1939, Holl became associated with Logan Clay Products as sales manager. While in this capacity he was successful in securing adequate financial assistance from commercial banks to ease the strain under which the company had been operating.

IN SEPTEMBER of 1950, he became president and general manager of Logan Clay and during the past 11 years under his leadership the company has expanded. In 1957 plans were announced for construction of a million-dollar plant adjacent to the original site to take care of the growth in sales.

Acquisitions of Logan Clay include The Logan Foundry & Machine Co., and, in June 1958, the Graff Kitting and Worthington Ceramics Co.—two Pennsylvania plants now operating as wholly-owned divisions of Logan Clay.

Approximately 450 persons now have regular and steady employment at the Logan and Pennsylvania plants.

Along with his duties as president and general manager of Logan Clay, Holl has found time to lend a hand toward further industrial development of Logan and Hocking County.

As chairman of the Industry Advisory Group of the Logan Trade Club, assistance was given the Metal Powder Products Co., Inc., to locate its plant in Logan, as well as the General Electric plant to locate northeast of the city.

He is, and has been for the last several years, a director of The Farmers & Merchants Bank of Logan. In January of 1962, he was made chairman of the board.

HE SERVED as a director of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, representing Southeastern Ohio from 1953 to 1958. He was vice president representing Southeastern Ohio before his election to the presidency.

Holl was named "Citizen of the Year" by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Organization last January 13. This award was presented by the State Commander of the VFW.

He was presented the "Professional Manager's Citation" at a meeting of The Ohio University Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management March 9, 1961.
